ATTY. M'PHAIL TO HEAD CHEST DRIVE: $17,000

Attorney John A. MacPhail was elected vice president and fund drive chairman for the Gettysburg Community Chest at a meeting of the directors of the Chest Wednesday evening at the fire house.

At the same time the goal for the forthcoming drive, to begin October 20, was set at $17,000.

Attorney MacPhail is scheduled to set up the organization for the annual campaign, including team captains and solicitors, prior to October 20. On the night of October 20 the annual "kick-off dinner" will be held for the solicitors at the YWCA. It is planned to complete the canvass by October 30.

In speaking of the forthcoming campaign, MacPhail said Wednesday night, "I'm confident that we can reach our goal. It represents sacrifices on the part of the organizations supported by the Chest. At the same time the increased support by individuals shown in last year's drive indicates a greater acceptance of public responsbility to support the groups which provide so many services for the community and an increased awareness on the part of the donors that this actually is six campaigns in one, supporting six different groups."

Allocate Fund

Approval of the campaign goal followed the annual report of the social plannng committee headed by Attorney Daniel E. Teeter. The committee studies the budget of the various organizations supported by Community Chest and then makes recommendations on the amounts to be allocated to each unit.

The $17,000 goal was divided as follows: $6,060 for the Recreation Association; $1,200 for Civic Nurse; $1,000 for the Girl Scouts; $1,000 for the YWCA; $2,500 for the Boy Scouts; $2,800 for the Library, and $2,500 for restoration of the emergency fund and campaign expenses.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE AT TOBEYS

Tobey's Women's Apparel Shop, 13 East Baltimore St., has announced the completion of its store improvements and the addition of two new departments.

The improvements include the installation of air conditioning, a complete new lighting system, a redesigning of the display windows, and repainting of the store's interior. The new departments will provide clothing for extra-tall girls, and white uniforms for nurses and waitresses.

"We're especially proud of our new window displays," Mrs. Shirley Dessen, the store's manager, said, "We will have new window displays set up each week.

"We are now equipped to provide better service for our customers. We only hope that there is an improvement in the number of customers to match the improvement in our facilities," she added.

Sheffer has been on active duty for two years. For the past 15 months he has been serving as an X-ray technician with the 20th Station Hospital, in Germany. Sheffer is a graduate of Penn State, having received both his B.S. and M.S. degrees there.

FAIR ATTRACTS LARGEST CROWD IN MANY YEARS

The South Mountain Fair reached the mid-point of its annual exposition today with fair officials claiming the largest attendance in years.

Friday will be FFA day at the fair with 200 youngsters from high schools of Adams and Franklin counties competing in livestock, agronomy judging and tractor driving contests and other events.

The seventh annual horse show will be the highlight of Saturday, final day of the fair.

Attracting much attention at the fair Wednesday were the 4-H Baby beeves and other livestock exhibits. Roy A. Weaner Jr., Gettysburg, R. 4, not only won the grand champion award for his "baby beef", but also took first honors in the fitting and showing contest held by the 4-H members.

Other Winners

Second prize in the Baby Beef event went to Robert Hay, Seven Stars, and third place to Stephen Murren, Hanover, R. 4. Fourth through tenth place respectively went to Evelyn Breighner, Littlestown, R. 2; Patrick Murren, Hanover, R. 4; Glenn Zepp, Gettysburg, R. 4; Ruth Ann Nace, Hanover, R. 3; Janet Hay, Seven Stars; Martha Zepp, Gettysburg, R. 4, and James Behney, York Springs.

Showmanship awards for fitting and showing the animals went to Roy Weaner, first, James Behney,

BOOKMOBILE IS DEDICATED AT SOUTH MT. FAIR

The Adams County Free Library's new bookmobile was dedicated at the South Mountain Fairgrounds Wednesday night. County Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegle told those assembled "the best way we can all say 'thank you' to the C. H. Musselman Foundation (donors of the vehicle) is to guarantee to the Library board that it will have our support and cooperation."

Riegle, in his dedicatory address said that "on November 28 the Adams County Free Library will observe its 10th anniversary. It was on that date in 1944 that the group interested in establishing a library organized and adopted its constitution and by-laws. This organization brought to a climax the dreams, efforts and planning of a large group of people in the county who had pursued the idea of a library for Adams County for a long time.

First Bookmobile

"The best way to provide library service on a county wide basis was through the use of a bookmobile and early in March, 1946, the bookmobile service was started with the first call being at Good Intent School in Straban Twp.

"The fact that a new and larger bookmobile has become necessary provides proof that the library of the county wanted and needed the service of a library.

"Libraries have been called 'Everyman's University.' The time has long since passed when we believed that an education could be secured only by going to school and that the education process stopped when we no longer attended formal classes in the school room. Books and libraries help to round out the educative process while we are in school and help to provide for our continued education after we are no longer attending regular classes. The rapid growth of the library and extensive use of the bookmobile indicate that the people of Adams County feel like Thomas Jefferson that the greatest legacy we can provide to future genera-

Larry F. Chrismer, 3, Drowns In Farm Pond Near Emmitsburg Wednesday; Is Found By Father

LARRY CHRISMER

After his pet dog returned home without him, the body of Larry Francis Chrismer, aged 3 years, was found floating in 18 inches of water in a neighbor's farm pond near Emmitsburg, Wednesday afternoon.

Efforts to revive the boy with oxygen administered by the Emmitsburg VFW resuscitator in the fire hall at Emmitsburg were abandoned after 20 minutes.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, listed the death as a case of accidental drowning and said the child probably had been dead for some time when his father John Edwin Chrismer, found his body in the pond on the Mervin R. Tate farm about 3:30 o'clock.

Father Operates Inn

The Chrismers reside on the Tract Rd., Fairfield, R. 2, about two miles from Emmitsburg and Mr. Chrismer operates the Tract Inn.

When the body was found after the father had looked for the boy at neighbor's homes and along the road after the dog had returned alone, Drs. Charles Williams and H. P. Freeman were called and the boy was rushed to the VFW resuscitator at Emmitsburg.

The body was turned over to S. L. Allison, funeral director at Fairfield.

Funeral On Friday

Surviving the child are his parents, John Edwin and Catherine Gebhart Chrismer; three brothers, Donald Joseph, who is stationed with the Air Force at Sampson, N.Y., Richard, Lonnie and John E. Jr., at home; his paternal grandfather Joseph A. Chrismer, of Bonneauville, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. George Gebhart, of Bonneauville.

Funeral services Friday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Fairfield. Rev. Father John McNulty will say the Mass of the Angels, the special mass for children. Interment at St. Joseph's Catholic Cemetery, Bonneauville.

REVEALS PLANS FOR INSTITUTE SEPTEMBER 24

FIREMEN OPEN NEW ACCOUNT FOR EQUIPMENT

Money derived from sale of the No. 6, "Culp," fire truck to Brushtown was placed by the Gettysburg Fire Department, at its meeting Wednesday evening at the former CCC camp on the Gettysburg Battlefield, in a special fund earmarked for future purchases of equipment.

Firemen plan to keep adding to the fund so that when replacements are needed there will be some money available.

The firemen expect to be able to pay off the remaining $3,000 due on the Rescue truck this year. They said the special fund is "the only way to operate, because equipment does wear out and we might as well prepare in advance for new replacements."

Place $580 In Account

The amount placed in the equip- $600 for the vehicle but required that it be repainted. Cost of the re-lettering was $20.

Red China Coast Is Pounded Again By Warships, Planes

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist warships and planes pounded the Red China coast again today, even as U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles pledged that Nationalist China "doesn't stand alone against the forces of aggression . . ."

Dulles flew here from the Southeast Asia security conference in Manila and spent 3 hours and 15 minutes closeted with President Chiang Kai-shek.

A high Nationalist official said "they exchanged views on questions affecting the two countries. The result was satisfactory to both." U.S. Ambassador Carl Rankin described the talk as very cordial and longer than expected.

Goes To Tokyo

Only five hours after Dulles' special plane landed here he and his party were airborne again, headed for Tokyo.

In a statement read to newsmen at the airport, he reiterated that the U.S. 7th Fleet is under orders to guard Formosa.

He said Communist China now is intensifying military and propaganda activity against the Nationalists "but we shall not be intimidated."

Ths statement was viewed here as a direct and challenging reply to Communists treats to "liberate" Formosa and as an endorsement of Nationalist attacks on Amoy and satellite bases from which the Reds have shelled the Nationalist island base of Quemoy.

Bomb Amoy Targets

A Defense Ministry communique issued as Dulles and Chiang were talking said Nationalist warplanes bombed and strafed military targets at Amoy and along the coast.

At the same time, the communique said, Nationalist warships bombarded Amoy and nearby Wuyu Island and patrolled waters off Quemoy and Amoy.

The ministry said yesterday's operations, in which U.S.-supplied F84 Thunderjets took part for the first time, destroyed two Red gunboats and over 100 wooden military boats and damaged other craft.

Nationalist warships were credited with sinking 6 motorized junks, damaging 20 others and capturing 3 in waters between Wuyu Island and Cape Chenhai on the mainland, another target for Nationalist bombardment.

800 Reported Killed When Earthquake Strikes Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A tremendous earthquake struck northern Algeria today, blasting the town of Orleansville and wreaking a toll which unofficial reports put at approximately 800 dead.

The French National Defense Ministry said in Paris that it knew of at least 200 deaths.

Eyewitnesses reported that the city of 32,500 looked as if it had gone through a heavy air bombardment.

At the Strasbourg Observatory, the shock was timed at 1:07 a.m. Scientists there said it was the worse to hit Algeria in 40 years.

Orleansville, a modern French town, built on an ancient Roman site, lies about 100 miles west of Algiers on the main rail line to Oran. It is the center of a rich farming valley. Some reports said it was 20 per cent demolished.

Barracks, stadium, postoffice, prison, hospital, two hotels, police headquarters, a small dam and a new Roman Catholic cathedral all collapsed or suffered heavy damage. About 40 travelers were buried alive in their beds when the Hotel Baudoin fell in on them.

Electric power was out and communications were cut. Troops and ambulances were rushed to the area.

Gov. Gen. Roger Leonard hurried to take command of rescue operations on the spot.

The area worst hit is between Tenes, on the Mediterranean coast, and Miliana, about halfway between Tenes and Orleansville, all villages were reported heavily damaged, with Vauban, Duperre and Rouina among the worst hit.

An airlift for the injured was set up between Maison Blanche airport at Algiers and the earthquake area. Among the first victims to arrive, many were suffering from fractured skulls.

A 400-bed field hospital was set up at Orleansville, and five surgeons were sent from Algiers.

ELDER LEGION POST MEETS ON TUESDAY

The monthly meeting of the Francis X. Elder Post No. 121, American Legion, was held Tuesday evening at the post home with 45 members present. Commander Charles B. Harner presided at the meeting.

T. Eugene Rodgers, drillmaster of the local Legion drill team, complimented the members for their fine showing and performance at the national Legion parade in Washington. A rising vote of thanks and congratulations was extended the drill team for their fine showing and the winning of many cash awards during the past year.

Commander Harner thanked the following men for volunteering to give blood; Joseph Sanders, Charles Six, Prof. Richard McCullough, Louis Rosensteel, Andrew T. Shorb and Thomas C. Harbaugh. This blood was offered for Mrs. Roscoe Six. Those who gave blood for Joseph Kreitz were Ralph McDonnell, William Rodgers, Carroll Topper and William Smith.

Elect New Members

New members voted in were Eugene Pecher, Fairfield; Richard Smith, Littlestown; Raymond Bowers, Taneytown; John C. Timmerman and Joseph Joy, Emmitsburg.

The post voted to enter the local bowling league and Jack Rosensteel was named manager of the bowling team.

Commander Harner named the following men to the Christmas decorating committee: Robert M. Myers, Thomas C. Harbaugh, Andrew T. Shorb, Louis Rosensteel, William Topper and Donald Topper.

It was announced that the annual Halloween parade for the children will be held on October 31st.

Commander Harner reminded the membership that the 1955 dues are payable in October.

The door prize was won by Louis Rosensteel. After the meeting, movies of the bi-centennial parade, the Firemen's parade and the Memorial Day parade held in Taneytown were shown by Richard Clem, Rocky Ridge, Md.

Mrs. Robert Daugherty gave a brief talk on the proposed 200th anniversary celebration that is being organized to be held in 1957. Both the post and the auxiliary were asked to appoint a member to act now on the forming committee for this affair.

Special guest of the evening was Murray Holmes Fout, candidate for State's Attorney of Frederick County in the November election. After the meeting adjourned refreshments were served.

The Auxiliary to Post No. 121, American Legion, held a regular meeting on Tuesday evening in the post home. There were 25 members present. Mrs. Madelyn Harner, president, presided over the meeting.

The possibilities of holding a public card party was discussed and it was decided to hold the party October 28 at 8 o'clock at a place to be announced later. The general chairman will be Mrs. Madelyn Harner. More details on this party will be announced later.

After the meeting the auxiliary joined the post to see the movies that Richard Clem had taken of the three parades held this summer in Taneytown, these parades were all participated in by the local drill team. After the movies, refreshments were served.

Plan Youth Sunday

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosensteel were Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan, East Main St., and Richard Clem, Rocky Ridge, Md.

A chicken-corn soup and food sale sponsored by the choirs of Elias Evangelical Lutheran Church will be held at the Firemen's Hall, West Main St., Saturday, September 18, beginning at 11 a.m.

Youth Sunday will be observed Sunday, September 19, at Elias Lutheran Church with the young people in charge of devotions in the Sunday School 9:15 a.m. and the Youth choir singing at the 10:30 a.m. Church Service. Luther League meetings will be resumed 7 p.m.

The annual fall Rally Day will be observed Sunday, September 26, at Elias Lutheran.

FAIR ATTRACTS

second and Evelyn Breighner, third.

The fruit growing exhibit attracted considerable comment and the size and quality of the displays by the 32 exhibitors led Chairman Nelson Weber to report that the fruit crop as a hole throughout the county is "excellent, with size and quality satisfactory." The exhibit was arranged by a committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Weber as co-chairmen and Mrs. Glen Slaybaugh, Mrs. Ryland Garretson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cleaver, Mrs. Ralph Shetter, and Edwin Stoner.

An enlarged cattle display in a huge tent at the southeastern end of the fairgrounds is attracting much interest, especially a calf born Tuesday night to a Jersey in the herd of Merle Sheffer, Huntsdale. The calf, first birth at the fairgrounds in some years, was born to the first prize winner among three year old cows in the Jersey classification.

Some exhibitors made out well with displays. Warren Bushey secured 17 of the 19 prizes given for grapes. Assistant County Agent Fred H. Attinger won four prizes in plums.

a sworn statement, accused Farrell of threatening to "blow your guts out" as he pointed the pistol at Reichert.

The affidavit also accused Farrell of stricking Reichert three times with his fist after the latter refused to "come along" with him.

According to reports, the incident grew out of an attempt by Reichert and Robert L. March, 18, of East Berlin, to pick up Farrell's daughter and daughter-in-law in their auto as the girls walked along a road near East Berlin at 11:30 p.m. Sunday.

Admissons By Farrell

Farrell, in a prepared signed statement, said he became involved in the fracas because he believed a felony had been committed against his 15-year-old daughter. Investigating state police from Gettysburg later cleared Reichert and March of any criminal intent to molest the girls.

In his statement, Farrell admitted that he pointed the gun and that he had struck Reichert, but he said he had done this only after Reichart resisted his efforts as a private citizen to arrest him on suspicion of a felony.

Benefits For All

"This gift from the Musselman Foundation also lends substance to the concept of American Democracy that when the benefits derived under our free private enterprise system are shared, everyone profits."

John A. Hauser, president of the C. H. Musselman Co., of Biglerville, in presenting the bookmobile to the library said: "Free speech and free public libraries go hand in hand. Can you imagine a traveling bookmobile packed with the free thought and free speech of the free world traveling anywhere behind the Iron Curtain today? We take the blessings of freedom too much for granted. Freedom for the group is based on freedom for the individual with full consideration of the rights of all. And freedom begins with a free press, free books and free public libraries.

"We are happy to thus formally present the bookmobile as a gift from the C. H. Musselman Foundation. C. H. Musselman himself was keenly aware of the value of our free schools, our free press and this gift expresses his sense of responsibility to the community. May I urge all countians, individuals and businesses, to support the county free library. It does a continuing job and has a continuing need, since its books and service must keep pace with the changing times."

Autographed copies of General Eisenhower's "Crusade In Europe" were presented to Thomas Sneeringer, Gettysburg and Philip Lobaugh, Aspers. Each day copies of the book are given to persons selected from the group who purchase books at the bookmobile for use in the library. The books needed are on one shelf at the bookmobile and are moved to the purchased shelf when donations covering their cost are presented. So far about $50 per day has been donated for purchase of new books at the bookmobile exhibit at the fair.

Sportsmen Will Improve Property

Extensive repairs to the clubhouse and property of the Gettysburg Sportsmen's Association along Wainwright Ave. were decided upon at a meeting of the stockholders Wednesday evening at the clubhouse.

Plans were made also for several shooting matches this fall and winter with the first to come on Sunday, October 10. The top prize that day will be a shotgun. Arrangements for other prizes will be announced later. Dates of the other matches were not set.

CALLED TO BLAZE

The Alpha Fire Co., of Littlestown, was called out at 7:30 this morning to extinguish a fire caused by a defective electric stove at the southern edge of the town R. 2. No damage was reported.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN ELECT MRS. R. A. BROWN

Mrs. Richard A. Brown was re-elected president of the Women's Christian Fellowship of the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening during the first fall meeting of the organization which followed a covered dish supper served at 6:30 o'clock in the church dining room.

Additional new officers elected include: vice president, Mrs. Clarence Bartholomew; recording secretary, Mrs. Blaine W. Hughes; corresponding secretary, Mrs. David Deitch; treasurer, Mrs. John O'Brien; historian, Miss Martha Neely; program chairman, Miss Ruth McIlhenny; fellowship chairman, Mrs. C. Harold Johnson; world service chairman, Mrs. E. Donald Scott; local service chairman, Mrs. Russel Hackman.

The following circle chairmen and co-chairmen were named: Circle 1, Mrs. J. P. Dalbey and Miss Martha Dickson; Circle 2, Mrs. Edgar K. Markley and Mrs. Anna G. Thomas; Circle 3, Mrs. Robert Ditchburn and Mrs. Anna Bracey.

Special music was presented by vocalist, Paul Grove, director of music in the Gettysburg public schools. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Bartholomew.

Mrs. John C. Stahle conducted elections. The nominating committee included Mrs. Wayne Keet, Mrs. John D. Keith and Mrs. Milton Tipton. Mrs. Keet presented the report.

The women will roll bandages for overseas Wednesday, September 29, at the church beginning at 10 o'clock that morning.

A play entitled, "Grandma Kindles a Fire," was enacted by the following cast: Mrs. Roy W. Gifford, Mrs. C. H. Heldt, Mrs. Guile W. Lefever, Mrs. Paul Grove and Mrs. Edward B. Bulleit. About 40 were present.

EPISCOPALIAN WOMEN MEET

Plans for a reception for the Episcopal students attending Gettysburg College this year were made at a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the church held at the parish house on Wednesday night with Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler presiding.

One hundred eight students of the Episcopal denomination will be on the campus this year and the Rev. Martin H. Knutsen Jr., vicar, has already been in correspondence with the bishops of the dioceses from which they come. A letter of welcome and invitation to participate in parish duties and privileges is also going to each student and a corporate communion will be held for them on the morning of September 19. The reception, which has been well attended the last several years, will be held that evening in the parish house and Miss Betty Lank will be chairman of the committe in charge.

Mrs. Robert Albright, the church's representative on the World Community Day Committee of the Gettysburg Council of Church women, reported that this service will be held in the Methodist Church on November 5 at 8 o'clock, and the auxiliary made plans to collect children's clothing, bedding and materials for the box to be presented at that service and sent to destitute countries.

Plan Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held in the parish house on October 15.

A winter festival will be conducted on November 18 when a public turkey supper will be served and gifts will be sold.

The group is continuing their sale of vanilla in order to pay for the coffee drip-o-later recently purchased for the church kitchen. Mrs. Conway Williams is in charge of this project. Christmas cards and the official church calendars will be sold during the winter months. Members reported on the summer gifts, birthday and anniversary presents which they had received from their secret church sisters, and on the books "Liberian Palaver" and "Postmarked Moscow" which are being circulated.

The meeting was held in the newly renovated basement of the parish church. The next meeting will be held on October 6.

Rites Today For John D. Lower

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bender Funeral Home for John D. Lower, 70, who died Monday at his home near Cashtown. The Rev. Mark Michael officiated. Interment in Flohr's Cemetery, McKnightstown.

The deceased's widow is the former Alma K. Rebert instead of Alma K. Gilbert previously listed. Mr. Lower was a member of the Cashtown Fire Co. and Chambersburg Men's Club.

FILES ACTION FOR DAMAGES

The State Container Corp., of Biglerville, filed an action in trespass with the county prothonotary this morning against Monroe L. Miller, of R. 4. He is asking $249.16 damages, following from an automobile accident on November 7, 1953.

The action states that Edward J. Lauth, of Biglerville, was driving a car, owned by the corporation, west on Hanover St., in Biglerville, at noon on November 7. He alleges that as he was entering the driveway of his home, a car driven by Miller, who was heading east, struck the right side of his vehicle.

The suit states that the road was wet from melting snow, and claims that Miller was driving at a speed "excessive with the conditions set forth," and "greater than would permit him to bring his vehicle to a stop within the assured clear distance ahead."

Weddings

Koons-Nester

Miss Neuriva LaRue Nester, daughter of Mrs. Marvin Nester, Lumber St., Littlestown, and the late Mr. Nester, and Airman 2/C Billy Rhoades Koons, of Littlestown, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Koons, were united in marriage on Saturday evening at 7:30 p.m., in Charleston, N. C. The double ring ceremony was performed in the Midland Park Methodist Church by the pastor, the Rev. L. S. Holroyd Jr., and the Rev. Eben Taylor, pastor of Aldengate Methodist Church, Charleston.

The bride was attended by Miss Lois Burkhart, Elizabethtown, Pa., as maid of honor. The groom chose for his best man, Robert Albright, who is stationed with the Air Force at Charleston. Traditional wedding music was played by the church organist.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church social hall. The newlyweds are now residing in Charleston.

Mrs. Koons was graduated from the Littlestown High School with the class of 1952, and was employed for the last year by the Pennsylvania Restaurant Association. Airman Koons graduated from the Littlestown High School in 1951 and has been serving since that time with the U. S. Air Force. He is stationed in Charleston, N. C.

Quick—Robertson

The marriage of Miss Jill D. Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Robertson of Washington and formerly of New Cumberland, to John D. Quick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Quick of New Cumberland, has been announced.

The ceremony was performed recently in Frederick Baptist Church, Frederick, Md., by the Rev. Robert T. Woodward.

Mrs. Quick was graduated by New Cumberland High School and attended Pennsylvania College for Women. She is now a student at the Harrisburg Hospital School of Medical Technology.

A senior at Gettysburg College, the bridegroom is also a graduate of New Cumberland High School. He will enter the Air Force through ROTC upon his graduation from college.

"WHERE GOEST THOU"

Where goest thou when shadows fall . . . and starlight floods the sky . . . when all the world is lulled to rest . . . by songbird's lullaby . . . where do your footsteps softly tread . . what pathway do you take . . . and does the land of memory . . . cause your dear heart to ache . . . do you ever retrace the steps . . . that carry you to me . . . and all the happiness we knew . . . in days of used-to-be . . perhaps you wander to the place . . . where you and I first met . . . the joyful spot where love was born . . . I never will forget . . I've wondered, oh, so many times . . . where goest thou each night . . . until you wake from golden dreams . . . that fade with morning light . . . if your dreams drift into the past . . . perhaps some day we'll meet . . . for I go there when shadows fall . . to be with you, my sweet.

REDS REJECT YANKEE NOTE

MOSCOW (AP)—Rejecting the second American protest over the shooting down of a U.S. Navy bomber off Siberia, Russia asked last night what would happen "in case Soviet war planes begin patrol flights near the border of the United States."

A Soviet note, delivered by messenger to the American Embassy here, accused the United States of "crude provocation" in its patrol flights near Russia in the Far East and demanded that measures be taken to prevent further incidents.

The note repeated previous Soviet charges that the two-engine Neptune downed last Saturday by Russian jet fighters had violated Soviet territorial waters and opened fire first.

The U.S. protest note had claimed the plane was well outside Soviet air space. It described the attack as "wanton and unprovoked."

Young Prisoner Prefers Russia

JESSUP, Md. (AP) — A young prisoner who wants to trade the iron bars of Maryland's House of Correction here for the Iron Curtain of Russia was advised today he would have to stay in jail.

The desperate offer was made by Lawrence Banton, who has served half of a one-year sentence for attempted robbery.

Warden William F. Syeiner said Banton, an Army veteran, was trying to get to Russia for a chance to "start life over." He said the young inmate was prompted by despair over his jail sentence and tangled family affairs.

Littlestown Firemen Cleared $5,580 By Carnival, Canvass

The total net profit from the Littlestown firemen's carnival in July amounted to $2,719.85, and the annual solicitation of funds resulted in a total collection of $2,861.07. Following the presentation of the carnival report at the monthly meeting of the firemen on Tuesday evening in the fire engine house, Paul E. Altoff, treasurer of the finance committee for the carnival, presented a check for $5,580.92 to the company, representing the complete proceeds.

Gross receipts at the carnival were $7,012.54. Of this amount, $541.20 was paid to the book committee; $345 for entertainment; $526.15 for parade expenses, including the prize money and $2,880.34, for carnival supplies, leaving a balance of $2,719.85.

Reports showed that during the carnival there were 5,836 bottles of soft drinks; 107½ gallons of ice cream; 628¼ lbs. of meat; 6,558 rolls, and 3,850 lbs. of ice used. There were also 193 fruit baskets given away. In appreciation for the work which the Ladies' Auxiliary did, in preparation and serving of refreshments, the fire company voted them a contribution of $200. General chairman of the carnival, Bernard M. Selby, thanked the membership for their "wholehearted cooperation" during carnival week, stating that this was the first time in the history of the comapny that it was not necessary to send out a "nightly S.O.S. for help" to man the stands and concessions.

Elect Two Members

Robert Koontz, president, conducted the meeting, which opened with the group singing of America, the Lord's prayer and the report of the secretary, Harry W. Badders. An investigating committee consisting of George E. Hornberger, Ralph Conover and Leslie Shinham was appointed to consider the following nominees for membership: Glenn C. Unger, Thomas D. Weaver, Kenneth Hartsock and Alvah Stonesifer, Jr. Upon approval of last month's committee, the company elected to membership Larry Mummert and Philbert D. Jacobs, Jr. Bills were ordered paid, amounting to $667.71. Receipts of the evening, including the carnival check, totaled $5,914.56.

Fire Chief Glenn E. Ohler reported on the progress made on the radio control station at the engine house, which was installed during the last month. The expense of the station and installation was shared with the Borough Council. The company's share of $490 was ordered paid along with the other bills on Tuesday evening. A group of local firemen have been selected to serve as radio station operators and there will be an expert visit the engine house in the near future to give them instructions. The group includes, Paul E. Altoff, J. Donald Lemmon, Henry E. Waltman, Kenneth Olinger, Roscoe W. Rittase, Charles Everhart Jr., George E. Hornberger, Richard Selby, Richard A. Little, Gerald W. Daley, Harry W. Badders, Walter Myers, Dennis Wallick and Glenn E. Ohler.

Chief Ohler also reported that there were two fire alarms since the last meeting, with no damage resulting from either.

Plan Smoker Nov. 5

Preliminary plans to conduct a series of smokers during the winter months were discussed. The date for the first smoker was set tentatively for Friday, November 5, with Lake Shanebrook as chairman of the refreshment committee and Paul E. Altoff, chairman of the ticket committee.

Fred C. Sentz, captain of the Uniform Rank, of the company, spoke with regard to a number of invitations to participate in parades during the coming month and it was decided to go to Lebanon on Thursday, October 7, for the State Firemen's Convention. The company agreed to charter a bus for this occasion. The Rank will also participate in the Halloween parade in Hagerstown on Saturday, October 30 and in the West York Fire Company's anniversary parade on Saturday, October 9.

A round of applause congratulating Bernard M. Selby, past president of the company, was extended to Mr. Selby, following his election as president of the Adams County Firemen's Association at the annual convention on Monday, for having atttained the honor and the office. In addition to Mr. Selby, other local firemen holding county offices are Edward G. Loeffel, who is treasurer and Henry E. Waltman, a director. Each of the three spoke briefly concerning the convention proceedings at Mc Sherrystown.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the business session to the seventy one members in attendance by the social committee consisting of Earl Harrison, Herbert Frock and Clark Fuhrman. The next regular meeting of the company will be held on Tuesday, October 5.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Jacobs-Redding Wedding Is Solemnized Here: A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Francis Xavier's Catholic church this morning (September 3) when Miss Eleanor Ann Redding and William F. Jacobs were married at a nuptial high mass at eight o'clock. The ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. Father Mark E. Stock, before a large gathering of relatives and friends.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. The bride on the arm of her father, was immediately preceded by her sister, Miss Frances Redding, as bridesmaid, and a younger sister, Miss Jean Redding, as flower girl. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, his brother, Charles Jacobs.

Firemen Elect Fairfield Man As President: Officers were elected. The place for next year's convention was chosen and several addresses were given at the Monday afternoon business session of the thirteenth annual convention of the Adams county firemen's association at Barlow.

S. L. Allison, Fairfield, prothonotary of Adams county, was elected president of the association after the delegates adopted new by-laws providing that a president can only serve two terms.

George A. McClellan, of Gettysburg, whom Mr. Allison succeeds as president, has served two terms in office.

Other officers chosen include H. J. Adams, Centennial, vice president; L. U. Collins, Two Taverns, secretary; Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, treasurer; the Rev. Marlin McCleaf, Mt. Joy Township, chaplain; James B. Aumen, Gettysburg fire marshal; John Sneeringer, Irishtown, delegate to the state association; Elmer Smith, Irishtown, alternate; H. J. Small, McSherrystown, delegate to the Southeastern firemen's association and Pius Topper, McSherrystown, alternate. Bonneauville was chosen as the place for holding the next year's annual convention.

Boro Treasury Is Down to $593: With the exception of $5,000 borrowed from the special fund, council has spent all but $593.32 of its 1934 tax receipts, George R. Martin borough treasurer, informed the borough fathers at their September meeting Wednesday evening.

Mr. Martin estimated that the special loan and the balance in the general fund treasury will be insufficient to operate the borough until the end of the year and that additional bank loans will be necessary. Council spent $27,266.93 for current expenses up to September 1, and was nearing its budget quota for the year.

Plan Welcome Here For Italians: Gettysburg's borough council, the Rotary and Lions clubs and the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce are expected to cooperate with Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson and Gettysburg College officials in extending a welcome to the three hundred Italian students from twenty Italian universities when the delegation comes to Gettysburg September 25.

Today's Talk

FIGHT, STRUGGLE AND POVERTY

In reading the lives of authors, writers, business men, in fact the lives of all human beings who have aspired and gained genuine success and renown, I have come across the fact that nothing has been such an aid and prod as fight, struggle and poverty. The early work of the great of this earth has usually been the most original and sincere, though later on there may be a polish and maturity that the early work did not have.

No success should come too soon. If it does it is that much easier to kill it off. I once hears a noted editor tell a woman writer who had just come into the limelight through a series of extremely clever short stories, to go back to the little mid-western town where she got all her inspiration, and create even better work, for he stated that the big city did not have the soul that the small town put into her writing. Well, she didn't go back and so never was able to repeat her early uccess.

I have just been reading an interesting autobiography by David Garnett, the distinguished author of "Lady into Fox," "A Man in the Zoo," and other books. He tells of John Galsworthy who then was unhappy and unknown, and who didn't even sign his own name to his first books. A little later however he gained happiness in love, but Garnett wrote that "from that moment Galsworthy was finished as a serious writer. He was happy; he soon became successful and influential, and his natural goodness, his serious desire to assist all the deserving causes near to his heart, ruined his talent." Can you imagine a Dr. Samuel Johnson, as we and the world know him, attaining the great fame that he earned had he not known poverty, struggle and suffering?

When it hurts inside to accomplish anything that we look upon as worthy, we should not become discouraged and give up but will ourself to go on—for that is what is meant by "growing pains." The great all go through the process. The others do not, and so you never hear about them.

Romorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Success Definition"

Just Folks

GROWING UP

About to be married, she's just finding out
That life has such troubles as these:
Some things undelivered to worry about
And wondering where are the keys.
The waiting in vain for the men to show up
To turn on the water and gas.
It's to matters like these all young people grow
As they enter the home making class.

But still there is much to be done.
She must think to arrange for the light and the phone.
There are many long errands to run.
There are floors to be swept; there are windows to shine,
There are painters who fail to show up.
These were troubles that fretted that Nellie of mine
When she had begun to grow up.

Getting ready to marry has many delights,
But it also has cares without end.
There's an address to find for each friend she invites
And "gift-thank you" notes to be penned.
The new home to be she must drive to and fro.
'Til the wedding, there's no slowing up.
These are duties and troubles all young people know
Through the process that's called "growing up."

Early Wynn Captures 20th Victory As Indians Humble A's While Yanks Beat Orioles

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The 20-Game Club, that exclusive circle of pitchers, probably will wind up with six members this season.

Four have made the grade so far, with Early Wynn of the fast-moving Cleveland Indians the newest recruit.

Wynn passed his entrance exams with flying colors last night, throwing an eight-hit 5-2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. And a long-time associate of the elite, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee, moved next in line by winning No. 19 for the rip-roaring Braves, 5-2 over Pittsburgh.

Trucks, Grim May Join

On hand to greet Wynn, who has won 20 or more twice before, were teammate Bob Lemon, a six-time member; Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, who has been in good standing for five consecutive seasons; and newcomer Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants.

With Spahn, a member five times previously, almost certain to join soon, the only other live prospects appear to be Virgil Trucks (18-8) of the Chicago White Sox, who won 20 last season, and rookie Bob Grim (17-6) of the New York Yankees.

Wynn's victory last night kept Cleveland 4½ games ahead of the Yankees, who beat Baltimore 8-2 in Tommy Byrne's return to the majors. Milwaukee moved within four games of the rain-idled Giants while Brooklyn slipped six games back by losing to St. Louis 6-5.

Phils Beaten

In other action, Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 9-3 and took over fourth place from the Phils; the Chicago White Sox shaded Washington 2-1; and the Red Sox beat Detroit 5-2. Rain washed out the Giants' scheduled home game with Chicago.

Spahn won his 11th game in a row by blanking the Pirates on three hits after giving up two runs in the first inning. Eddie Mathews hit his 36th home run with Joe Adcock on base in the third.

Carl Erskine of the Dodgers, who has won 16, lost his chance to stay in the running for the 20-Game Club by failing to hold a two-run lead in the ninth inning against the Cardinals. He escaped the loss since he left with the tieing runs on base, Joe Cunningham cashed them in against relief pitcher Jim Hughes, then scored the winning run on Rip Repulski's single. Haddix pitched the ninth inning for the Cardinals, saving the victory for rookie Gordon Jones.

Hits 45th Homer

Big Ted Kluszewski of the Redlegs drove in three runs and started a four-run Cincinnati rally in the sixth with his 45th home run, six more than anybody else in either league.

Byrne, waived out of the majors last season because of wildness, walked only four and struck out four in beating Baltimore. But the Yankee left-hander stood out even more as a hitter. He scored the first run after tripling in the third and he banged a bases-loaded double to put the Yanks ahead to stay in the fourth.

Williams Hitless

Morrie Martin, making his second start for the White Sox, allowed only two singles until he gave way to Don Johnson with one out in the ninth against Washington. Johnson gave up one more in finishing. The Sox raked Porterfield for 13 hits but left 11 men stranded.

Ted Williams went hitless in three times at bat in Boston's victory over Detroit. The Red Sox broke open the close game with consecutive home runs by Sam Mele and Sam White in the eighth.

Novice Race Friday At Lincoln Speedway

The 'Also-Rans' for the most part of this racing season are beginning to move into the spotlight on the Lincoln Speedway, near Abbottstown, following two upset wins last weekend. Shortly Kerschner, Reading sppedster, racked up his first win of the year in the 25 lap feature last Friday and served notice that he would be in contention for the rest of the racing year. Another young Penn-Mar pilot. Jimmy Paterson, made a big hit with the crowd as he showed exceptional skill in winning the Labor Day event on the half-mile Lincoln oval.

Another interesting inovation that will be continued this Friday under the lights at Lincoln is the Novice Race. A large field provided the fans with plenty of thrills as Charlie Grinestaff of Lincoln University took the first novice race of the season. In an effort to create more interest among the younger fellows Penn-Mar will hold these novice events for the rest of the year.

Tommy Byrne Gives Stengel More Hope

BALTIMORE (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel says the forlorn hopes of the New York Yankees to overtake the Cleveland Indians for the American League pennant depends on improved pitching, and a prodigal son, Tommy Byrne, has given him some encouragement.

Byrne returned last night to the Yankees after a three-year absence to pitch and bat them to an 8-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The 34-year-old Byrne, a southpaw, was bought last Friday from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League where he had a 20-10 record. In his first appearance in a Yankee uniform since 1951, he gave the Orioles only seven hits, getting them out in order in five innings.

GHS Will Have But Three Seniors In Opening Lineup At Westminster On Friday

Only three seniors are listed in the probable starting lineup for the Gettysburg High School football team which opens its season Friday evening at 8 o'clock against Westminster on the Owls' field.

Coach Howard Shoemaker, who is starting his fifth season as head mentor of the Warriors, will field a light, inexperienced team this season but one which has shown superb spirit which may partially make up for what it lacks otherwise.

The seniors who have been named by Coach Shoemaker as starters this week include Ted Crouse, 157, guard; Carl Westerahl, 151, center; Ronnie Williams, 169, halfback. All are lettermen.

Warriors Outweighted

The Warriors' opening line will average 164 pounds to 183.7 for Westminster. In the backfield the Warriors will be out-weighed 162.2 to 153 per man.

Spirit Will Help

In commenting on the opening game Coach Shoemaker said today: "We are expecting one of the toughest games of the entire season. Westminster is very big as usual and 10 of the starters faced us last year. Since our squad is light and inexperienced we will depend on speed and spirit. The squad has shown very good spirit throughout pre-season drills and if it keeps that up it will help plenty."

There are no major injuries on the Warrior squad and full strength will be ready to oppose the Blue and White outfit.

Friday's game will mark the sixth in the series between the schools with the Warriors holding a 5-0 record.

Other Games

Other Friday night scholastic games of interest locally will include the following: Delone at Hanover, Chambersburg at Hagerstown, Swatara at Mechanicsburg, and Hummelstown at Hershey.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — In a recent essay which purported to prove that the Yankees would have all the best of the schedule if they and the Cleveland Indians seriously bumped heads in the closing stages of the American League race, this corner, it now becomes evident, was guilty of a glaring oversight.

Not once in the course of pointing out that the five-time champs would wind up feasting on such as the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics while the Indians were locked in mortal combat with the Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers did we see fit to mention the fact that a fellow with a long memory named Bucky Harris still was managing the Washington entry.

Bucky not only clipped his old team 2-1 on the series, dealing a heavy blow to any hopes they still have of closing with the Indians, but he let them see something that no other club in the league had seen all year. That was the rare sight of Bob Porterfield, the Nats' finest pitcher, coming in from the bullpen to stifle the Yanks in the final three innings of the deciding game. All of Porterfield's previous 26 appearances had been as a starter.

If the champs weren't quite certain before how Harris felt about them, they must have known for sure after that. They can look forward with confidence to seeing more of Porterfield in their final series — maybe a lot more.

• • •

It was at the close of the 1948 season, when his team lost out to the deadlocked Boston and Cleveland clubs in a thrilling finish, that Bucky was fired by the Yankees and the job given to that noted failure, Casey Stengel. It was not so much the fact that he was booted as the circumstances surrounding the act that dug a furrow across the "boy manager's" brain. It will be a long time before he forgives George Weiss, the Bomber's general manager.

In the first place, Harris did not especially want to pilot the Yanks. He had done a lot of field managing in his time, and he had his eyes set on a big inside job. He appeared to have a good start as Larry MacPhail's white collar assistant when, in '47, the Yankee bench job fell vacant, and Larry urged Bucky to take it over.

Harris consented, but reluctantly, for he had reason to believe he was in line for the general manager's chair at Detroit. He also assumed, however, that he was set in the Yankee organization if he went along with MacPhail's plans for him.

History shows he took a club that had finished third the previous year and drove it to a pennant, thanks to some miraculous relief pitching by Joe Page. Also, that in the midst of the celebration which followed MacPhail announced he was taking a million dollars and getting out.

• • •

That left Harris without his patron, but he still wasn't as worried as he should have been. He still had a pennant winner, and he still had Page. What he couldn't foresee was that Page, a genuine lefthander, was to take to the brush in '48 and win only seven games for him, exactly half the number of victories he had rung up the previous season.

Even so, Bucky made it close. He wasn't knocked out until next to the last day. But he was blamed for not having kept Page in line, and was canned summarily by Weiss. He was to spend the next year managing San Diego before Clark Griffith brought him back from exile. He doesn't much like the Yankees.

There is an interesting footnote. One of the things that caused coldness between Bucky and his general manager during the '48 campaign was the fact that Weiss refused to bring up a pitcher named Bob Porterfield from Newark until it was too late to bail Bucky out.

Many Pennsylvania High Grid Teams Open Season On Friday; AP Reporter Picks Gettysburg

By DICK HOENIG

HARRISBURG (AP)—King Football returns tomorrow night with the kickoff of the 1954 schoolboy season in Pennsylvania.

Some two-thirds of the state's football-playing high schools get a start on the three-month campaign with some playing games that will count in league standings and many more engaging in exhibition contests.

Traditionally, most of the early September action is centered in Western Pennsylvania with the eastern and central schools falling in line toward the end of the month.

The far west schools close shop earlier, in mid-November, while many eastern elevens continue through Thanksgiving Day. The 1954 opening night finds regular league games in four of the state's top half dozen conferences—the East Penn, with 10 games carded, the Western Conference, with a dozen games on tap; Section II with two games and four WPIAL AA encounters. The Central and South Penn don't begin league action until the last week of the month and first week of October.

Not Many "Breathers"

The trend of recent years toward passing up the customary schedule opening "breather" is in evidence again. For instance, four of the top games on the schedule look like they will have important bearing on the outcome of three league races.

In the East Penn, St. Clair will be trying to beat Mahanoy City for the first time in 11 meetings and has a chance to do it. However, a veteran Mahanoy City club that was held to a 0-0 tie in last year's opener, gets the nod by a hair.

Central Pennsylvania's game of the weekend has Williamsport, of the strong Central Penn circuit, testing Coal Twp. Both may be slightly under their usual strength. The choice is Coal to reverse last year's surprise Williamsport win.

Corry Meets Warren

The bell ringer in the upper northwest's Section II finds the defending champion, Corry, running into Warren, touted as the toughest stumbling block on Corry's road to repeat. The Beavers have only five returning lettermen but the tip is to stick with the champs whose last loss was to this club, 25-13, in the 1952 opener.

Lewistown and Conemaugh Twp. tangle in the Western Conference's top scrap. Last year it was Conemaugh by a touchdown and the year before Lewistown by the same. The township school is tabbed as a definite title threat this season, so is the choice.

Last year's predictions were 76 per cent correct for the three months on a statewide basis. Here's this season's first try at the winners:

Other Predictions

East — Tamaqua over Summit Hill, Schuylkill Haven over Ashland, Berwick over Hazle Twp., Minersville over Cass Twp., Pottsville over Frackville, Hazleton over McAdoo, West Scranton over Scranton Central, Coaldale over Blythe Twp., Kulpmont over Mount Carmel Catholic, Mount Carmel over Sayre.

Central — Harrisburg William Penn over Susquenita, Lebanon over Eastern (Washington, D. C.), Chambersburg over Hagerstown (Md), Burnham-Berry over Shippensburg, Hanover over Delone Catholic, Gettysburg over Westminister, Mechanicsburg over Swatara, Hershey over Hummelstown, Jersey Shore over Montoursville, Sunbury over Northumberland.

West—Beaver Falls over Greensburg, Charleroi over Johnstown, Donora over Pittsburgh Westinghouse, DuBois over Altoona, Ellwood City over Bradford, Allquippa over Erie Prep, Uniontown over German Twp., Butler over Erie Tech, Vandergrift over Tarentum, Brownsville over California, Sharon over Sharpsville, Farrell over Erie Academy, McKeesport over Glassport, New Castle over Pittsburgh Carrick, Oil City over Titusville, Meadville over Greenville, Mercer over Franklin, Philipsburg over Bellefonte, Bellwood-Antis over Tyrone, Clearfield over Osceola Mills, State College over Moshannon Joint, Windber over Shae Twp., Westmont over Cresson, Ebensburg over Conemaugh, Adams over Somerset, Leechburg over Indiana.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Lightly Manned Squires Meet Hanover On Friday As Coach Seeks Winning Team Spirit

Coach Gene Bonelli makes his debut as mentor of the Delone High School gridmen Friday night when the McSherrystown Squires square off against their traditional rival, the Hanover High Nighthawks in Hanover. Soundly pasted by a 21-0 score in last year's encounter, Bonelli is hopeful of getting his twelve remaining lettermen up for Friday's fray and instilling a winning spirit.

According to Bonelli it is much too early to say just how good the Squires are. Losses from last year's squad were heavy, and Jake Chrismer, the team's leading scorer and groundgainer, will be surely missed.

As Coach John McMahon's assistant last year, Bonelli has a good line on his material. "We have a long way to go before we really have a good team," he says, "but we have the potentialities. If I can snap these kids out of their losing attitude, we're bound to improve. We must have a winning spirit."

Talented Tackles

Bonelli has some talented performers up front on the Delone line. Claude Zepp, a 220 lb. tackle, anchors the forward wall. Out last year because of a broken ankle, Zepp has been "committing mayhem in all our scrimmages." At the other tackle, Bonelli has Tom Smith, 185 lb. sophomore, who he calls "the best looking young tackle I've ever seen anyplace." Smith was a starter last year as a freshman.

Elsewhere on the line the Squires have a weight problem. Center Rod Bunty, Irishtown, hits the scales at 130 lbs., but the senior ball snapper has "loads of fight and steadily outplays much larger men." The ends Burnell Bevenour, an "eclusive, pass-catching" New Oxford junior, and Jude Smith, a 6'2 senior from McSherrystown, tip the scales at 155 and 170 lbs. respectively. At guard Bob McMaster, Hanover junior, weighs only 160. Frank Gift, a 190 lb. senior from Paradise, brings the average weight in the starting line to 173 pounds.

Heading up Bonelli's pony backfield, which averages 156 pounds, is veteran signal caller Dan Greenholt, a senior, who will be responsible for working the Squires' "sliding-T." At the halfbacks are Don McKendrick, Gettysburg, a 160-pound junior starter from last season, and Andy Brady, Conewago, a 150 pound junior, a reserve last year. Captain "Buddy" Redding, Gettysburg, rounds out the backfield. Bonelli has been pleased with Redding, "a good hard-driving back."

Heft Reserves

The Squires have good heft among the greener reserves. Tackles Charley Doll and Gary Zartman carry 210 and 235 pounds respectively; Skip Neiderer, McSherrystown, who runs back of Redding, hits 180 pounds; and Tom Carbaugh, Hanover, reserve center, weighs in at 180 pounds. Larry Little, Hanover, Carroll Funk, McSherrystown, and Phil Kenworthy, Gettysburg, have also caught the coach's eye.

Bonelli, is a native of Mamaroneck, N. Y. and a 1950 graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, served as an assistant coach in several New York high schools before coming to Delone. His new assistant is John Russ, Harrisburg, who begins his first year at Delone.

Under their new coach the Squires figure to present a mixed attack to keep opponents off balance. "We have several kids who can carry the ball pretty well," says Bonelli, and a couple of pretty good passers. Our offense isn't built around any one man." He plans to substitute freely during the early games and hopes that some of the reserves will develop enough to push the veterans for their jobs.

The starting lineup features nine starters from last years club which won only two of ten games. Six seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore will lineup against the Hawks in Friday's lidlifter in a series that stands 18 victories for Hanover, 2 for Delone.

Starting Line-up

Center — Rodney Bunty, Irishtown, 130 lbs., senior.
Right end — Jude Smith, McSherrystown, 170 lbs., senior.
Fullback — Captain "Buddy" Redding, Gettysburg, 155 lbs., senior.

PAUL ANDREWS SCORES KAYO IN SECOND ROUND

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Andrews, a rangy, 6-foot-3 ex-paratrooper who has a hard time shedding weight to the 175-pound level, is being groomed to take on Joey Maxim next in a campaign for the light heavyweight crown held by Archie Moore.

After Andrews' second-round knockout of Bobby Hughes in Chicago Stadium last night, the International Boxing Club swung into action to land Maxim for him.

"I'll see Doc Kearns (Maxim's manager) in New York next week," said Truman Gibson, IBC secretary. "We want to match Andrews and Maxim for Chicago Stadium or Buffalo, probably in November."

Andrews Impressive

Hughes, a Warren, Ohio, product who has scored 19 knockouts in 37 bouts, gave Andrews trouble in a savage first round of the nationally televised 10-rounder.

Andrews outweihed Hughes 180 to 176. It was his 29th victory — 15th by a kayo — in 32 bouts.

Wednesday's Score

Greenmount 4; Hunterstown 3.

Greenmount eked out a 4-3 victory at Hunterstown Wednesday evening in the playoff of a postponed South Penn Baseball League game and as a result clinched fourth place and a spot in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

Whether the league playoffs open Sunday will be determined tonight.

Wenksville and Taneytown have finished in a tie for second place and a way must be determined to establish what spots the team will occupy in the playoffs. A game may be played or a flip of the coin may be used.

Roy Shanebrook, league president, who had been at odds with the league policies for some time, announced Wednesday evening he has quit as president. William King, vice president, and Chester Shriver, secretary-treasurer, will solocit the aid of several team managers this evening to iron out the playoff problem.

Richards Offered New Sox Contract

CHICAGO (AP)—Chuck Comiskey, Chicago White Sox vice president, says contract negotiations with Paul Richards have ended and the manager has been tendered a new pact "at a slight increase" in salary and "for more than a year."

Richards' current two-year contract, reportedly at from $30,000 to $40,000 annually and a bonus based on attendance, expires at the end of the year. He receives "a nickel a head" on every paying customer in excess of one million.

The Sox already have passed the million mark and on the basis of a 250,000 excess Richards' 1954 bonus would be $12,500.

ATHLETE HURT, PARENTS DIE IN CAR CRASH

HARRISBURG (AP) — A young Harrisburg athlete was in serious condition in a hospital here today unaware that the automobile accident in which he was injured claimed the lives of his mother and father.

Harrisburg Hospital attendants said they did not tell John Vokes that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Duane Vokes were killed in the two-car collision on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near here yesterday.

The collision also claimed the life of Hugh P. Boyd, 62, Pittsburgh driver of the other car.

All-American Tackle

Young Vokes, 18-year-old former Harrisburg Catholic High School tackle who was listed last year on the All-American Scholastic Catholic football team, was en route to South Bend with his parents when the crash occurred in a drizzling rain.

Vokes was to register for the coming semester at Notre Dame University under an athletic scholarship.

Coroner E. A. Haegele said the Boyd car skidded on the slippery road, crossed the medial strip and crashed broadside into the car driven by young Vokes.

Punctured Lung

Boyd died a few hours later in Harrisburg Hospital.

Hospital attendants said Vokes suffered a puncture lung, several fractured ribs and cuts and bruises of the body. They said the news of his parents' death was withheld until his condition improves.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilkes-Barre and Reading have grabbed quick leads in the semi-final round of the Eastern League Governor's Cup playoffs.

But the Barons, who placed first in regular season play, needed an assist from Manager Danny Carnevale's strategy sack to nip Albany, 1-0, last night in a 12-inning squeaker.

Fourth-place Reading, meanwhile, jumped on host Elmira for three runs in the first inning and breezed to a 5-1 victory. Big Bill Meyer limited the Pioneers—who chased the Barons to the final day's play before finishing second—to five hits while his mates pounded four pitchers for 13 blows.

At Wilkes-Barre, the Barons' Jim Stump and Al Schroll of Albany, battled through 11½ scoreless innings before Bill Jankowski, batting for Stump, singled home Carl Linhart from second base.

Ken Farragut Will Play For Eagles

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles offensive operations—especially the line play—figures to get a big boost with the announcement that Ken Farragut, one of the National Football League's best offensive centers—has decided to play another year.

Farragut announced he was retiring from the game several days before the 1954 Eagles opened training in July. He was named sales manager of a roofing and siding firm in Philadelphia.

However, Farragut said yesterday he had reached an agreement with his employer that will leave him time to play with the Eagles.

WILL REDUCE RATES

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Public Utility Commission yesterday authorized the United Gas Improvement Co., Philadelphia, to reduce its rates by $617,702 annually for consumers in Reading, Harrisburg and Lehigh County.

The Reading division cut goes into effect Sept. 15 and for the Harrisburg and Lehigh division on Oct. 15.

The reductions resulted from UGI's ability to obtain increased supplies of natural gas.

SINGER MAKES NOISE BUT WIFE CRACKS A WHIP

By JOY MILLER
The Associated Press

"Wives," says Marie Melchior "can manager husbands better than anyone else."

The man she manages, with her 103 pounds, is Lauritz Melchoir, 6 foot 3½ Danish tenor, who weighs in well over 200.

A pretty, fragile looking woman, she has been married to Melchoir for 29 years but still doesn't look a lot over 30. A regular on the "best dressed" lists, she doesn't look as is she could tell a party of the first part from a garden party.

Good Manager

But she's a formidable opponent at contract-signing time, with sharp blue eyes that don't miss a thing in the fine print and a mind that clicks like an electric adding machine.

"A wife has no other clients and can devote all her time to her husband's affairs," she goes on nodding her blonde head for emphasis. "It is a very good combination.

"You take my Lauritz. He's very good. He says, 'I make the noise and she does the rest.' I have no trouble with him at all. If I did, I would hit him."

Fell Into His Life

She literally fell into his life one day in 1924. He was sittng in a Munich garden when Maria Hacker, an intrepid German actress doing her own stunt scenes in a movie, parachuted into a tree in front of him. They were wed two years later.

"I liked him when I looked at him," she says. "He told me later he didn't know if I was a boy or girl, the way I was dressed. 'Not many men meet their wives that way, like a parcel coming down in the air,' he told me."

Broke Traditions

She has helped Melchoir break a lot of traditions in the 11 years since he first appeared on the radio as a comedianand actor, the first Metropolitan Opera star to enter the popular entertainment field. In all has had nine successful careers: Opera, concert, radio, TV, recordings, motion pictures, vaudeville, nightclubs, stage.

Have Good Time

"And he loves it," says his fond wife. "Whatever he does, he loves. He just like a child."

The Melchoirs seem always to have had a rollicking time. Or maybe it's the way in which she tells it.

Police Chief Rescues Pet From Attackers

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Chief of Police, Ike Flynn, got an early start in his duties one morning when he broke up a fight near his home and took the defeated participant to the police station.

It was a parakeet being chased by a flock of sparrows.

As Flynn walked into the station, Lt. Howard Stout caught a glimpse of the parakeet and reached for the telephone, called a woman and within a short time had the bird back home.

FLYING GIANT

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Joe Sohm an employe of the Tribune circulation department, thinks he is the biggest airplane pilot in the country. Six feet tall, he weighs 388 pounds.

DEWEY LEAVES DOOR OPEN FOR HIGHER POST

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, in deciding not to run again for the governorship of New York, has left the door wide open to bid for the presidency or the United States Senate in 1956.

In a televised broadcast to the people of New York Tuesday night he said the time had come for him to return to private life and he will not be a candidate for any public office "this fall."

He did not say (1) he had given up all political ambitions or (2) that he was retiring to private life for keeps or (3) that he would not accept appointment to high public office, perhaps by President Eisenhower.

There has long been speculation here that he might succeed Secretary of State Dulles if the latter ever retired. This would require appointment by Eisenhower, who received a big assist from Dewey in getting the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

Lost Top Bid Twice

Dewey is a two-time loser as a Republican nominee for president. He lost to President Roosevelt in 1944 and President Truman in 1948. In the next campaign, 1952, he worked for Eisenhower.

Two presidential defeats by the Democrats might seem enough to cool off Dewey. But they may have only aggravated his ambition. If Eisenhower does not seek re-election in 1956, Dewey may try again, if the Republicans let him.

They might not let him. The two defeats rankled with some members of his own party. Not so much the 1944, war-year trimming by Roosevelt, but the 1948 beating by Truman.

And his part in the 1952 Republican convention—in helping steer the nomination to Eisenhower and away from the late Sen. Taft of Ohio—embittered a number of Taft's supporters.

But Dewey's critics and enemies could never deny he had been a popular governor of New York and that he was a true political pro.

The 1954 roster of the Brooklyn Dodgers lists 21 pitchers, 4 catchers, 10 infielders and 11 outfields.

Outfielder Dick Sinovic, who will receive a spring trial with the Braves, led the Southern Association in runs batted in, hits and total bases during the 1953 season.

Blame Hurricane For Death Of Fish

BALTIMORE (AP) — Suffocation apparently caused the death of thousands of fish found floating on the surface of the Chesapeake Bay over the Labor Day weekend, marine experts say.

Paul McKee, director of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission, said engineers reported that an upwelling of lower levels of water containing very little oxygen had caused the fish to suffocate. The recent hurricane winds were blamed for the upwelling.

Democrats Plan To Replace State Sales Tax With A New Tax System If They Beat GOP

By L. U. LESLIE

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Democratic platform for Pennsylvania's election campaign pledged the party today to replace the state sales tax with a new tax system "based on the principle of ability to pay."

The platform was written by a committee headed by former U. S. Sen. Francis J. Myers for presentation to an afternoon meeting of the Democratic State Committee for adoption.

The all-day Democratic rall was climaxed in the evening by a $100-a-plate dinner to be addressed by Adlai Stevenson, the party's 1952 candidate for president.

The platform referred to what it termed the "record of indecisive leadership," of the Republican state administration, and said:

"We will not rest until the mess at Harrisburg has been cleaned up, all possible economies affected, and the overlapping of functions and bureaus and loose, uncontrolled spending eliminated."

Equalize Tax Structure

"An equalized tax structure, impartial and efficient tax collection and business-like budget control will be promptly instituted."

The plank, pledging to abolish the one per cent state sales tax imposed in 1953 by the Republican-controlled Legislature, had been forecast by campaign statements by the party's candidate for governor, Sen. George M. Leader of York County.

The platform also formalized Leader's statement that, if elected, he did not plan any substitute for the sales tax which was estimated to produce 135 million dollars in two years.

Instead, the platform said the Democrats would set up "an equitable tax structure" and reconstruct the state's "hodge-podge fiscal system" by "eliminating the rampart favoritism, fraud and tax-dodging which has robbed our schools of desperately needed funds."

The platform proposed in its plank on reorganization of the state government creation of "a state consumer commission to represent the interests of consumrs before the regulatory bodies and agencies of the commonwealth."

"Inefficient" Government

The platform promised "complete reform and overhaul of our wasteful and inefficient state government" through a state government reorganization act empowering the governor to eliminate waste, inefficiency and overlapping of state services; a department of accounting "for the purpose of ending the present chaotic conditions;" and administrative deputy to the governor to supervise the administrative management of state services; and a "realistic revision" of salaries and job security for professional and technical employes.

On national affairs, the platform called for election of a Democratic Congress, saying the Eisenhower administration "is frankly dominated and directed by the great corporations and banks."

On foreign affairs, the platform said "the weaknesses in the national Republican administration . . . has cost us leadership and friends abroad and enduring confidence and strength at home."

"Years Of Opportunity"

Turning to state affairs, the platform said: "This is a year of great opportunity for the Democratic party of Pennsylvania. It is an opportunity to serve wisely and well in the interest of the people as a whole."

The Republican state administration, the platform said, "has been characterized by a trail of broken promises, the merciless macing of state employes for financing political feuds, reckless expendtiure of public funds to bolster local political machines, shocking toleration of prison administrations that have produced riots and revolutions, secret tax settlement for campaign contributors and stubborn refusal to eliminate costly waste and inefficiency in government."

The platform promised stronger provisions in the public utility law "to provide greater protection for the interests of consumers."

Milk Dominations

On milk control, the platform said the party would "end the dealer domination" through "adequate representation to producers and consumers."

The platform said the party would "examine and adjust where necessary" policies of the Liquor Control Board and would administer affairs of the board "with a full complement of board members."

The platform renewed the party's pledge for enactment of fair employment legislation.

For mining areas of the state, the platform said the party would "mobilize the resources of our state government to attract new industries." Another plank promised bigger appropriations for sealing mines and fighting mine fires. An extension of the Pennsylvana Turnpike from Scranton-Wilkes-Barre to Erie also was promised.

The platform pledge on communism promised "to treat the Communist party and its members as moral and legal outlaws, and deal with them accordingly; to pursue vigorously policies which will maintain a high level of prosperity and employment and thus eliminate the conditions which create a favorable climate for communist subversion."

Labor Platform

For labor, the platform promised liberalized unemployment, workmen's and occupational disease benefits; an anti-injunction law requiring hearings before temporary injunctions are issued in labor disputes; payment of prevailing wage rates on government sponsored contracts and projects; equal pay for equal work for women; opposition to "right to work" legislation.

Farmers were promised a farmer secretary of agriculture and an effective program for the control of disease in cattle, poultry and plant life. The platform also advocated a promotion program for Pennsylvania farm products.

The party's stand on other issue included:

Elections — To carry out reapportionment of both House and Senate; to institute absentee balloting.

Health And Welfare

Health and welfare—Merit system for all technical and professional personnel; encourage and strengthen local health units; a policy of cure, rather than custody, for the mentally ill.

Education — A survey of new school building needs in the state; teachers salaries maintained at a level to attract competent people into the profession.

Highways—Abolish the highway department's control over local road affairs; enact a home-rule program giving political subdivisions a fair percentage of traffic earnings.

Atomic protection—Creation of a civil defense organization which can cope realistically with sweeping changes wrought by the rapid technological advances being made in the methods of atomic warfare.

Public assistance—To adjust the basic assistance grant so as to provide a minimum standard of health and human dignity, and to maintain the public assistance program as a state responsibility.

Home rule—Legislation to permit all cities to frame and adopt charters in accordance with their needs and desires.

GEORGIANS ARE VOTING TODAY

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgians nominated a governor, a U.S. senator and 10 representatives in today's Democratic primary. The ballot included a king-size list of nine candidates for the governorship.

Numerous other state and local posts also were at stake.

Nine candidates seeking to succeed Gov. Herman Talmadge, who by law cannot succeed himself, have indulged in one of the wildest and hottest campaigns in decades. Much of their oratory dealt with the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision against segregation in public schools. The major candidates promised to maintain separate public schools for white and Negro children. The race for governor developed no national issues.

Sen. Richard B. Russell is unopposed for re-nomination.

PRIVATE "EYE" PROBES MURDER

CLEVELAND (AP)—Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan said Tuesday a private investigator has been hired to find the killer of comely 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard.

He declined to name the detective or say how long he has been at work.

In a second attempt to free him on bail from county jail, Corrigan said he would subpoena "about half a dozen" witnesses when the request is heard in court later this week.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin set the trial hearing for Friday, but said he would postpone the hearing until Saturday if witnesses were brought in. No postponement has yet been made.

U.S.-Canadian Atomic Energy Officials Map Treaty Plans For Project Clearing House

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top-level U.S. and Canadian atomic energy officials meet here today to seek ways of tightening their cooperation under relaxed rules on atomic secrecy laid down by Congres.

The talks are being held by Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, and William J. Bennett, president of Canada's Atomic Energy Agency.

The law approved last month by Congress enlarged President Eisenhower's authority to assist countries to build up atomic industries if they cooperate with the United States in atomic energy matters. It also provided the President with authority to transfer to America's Norh Atlantic allies hitherto secret information about the effect of atomic weapons and data on their size, weight and shape.

Canadian Talks Today

Eisenhower announced at Denver Monday that the Canadian talks would be held today. His statement was concerned primarily with disclosing that the United States and several other countries had agreed to set up an international agency to promote peaceful uses of the atom This gave rise to an impression that Strauss' meeting with Bennett would be concerned with that project.

However, both American and Canadian officials said that was not the case.

In fact, a cloud of secrecy has fallen over the international program aside from the general ideas which the President announced. Some informants said it would hardly be accurate to say there is yet a specific plan.

Clearing House

The general impression is that the proposed agency will be created by treaty and that it will act primarily as a clearing house for peaceful atomic projects rather than having itself a pool of atomic materials and scientists upon which any country requiring help could call directly.

Thus it is expected that when the agency is functioning, some underdeveloped country which needs atomic power will apply and the agency will then find among its members the resources of know-how and fissionable material required by the applicant country to establish an atomic power station.

The agency will operate outside the United Nations, where its work might be impeded by Communist maeuvers.

Employment Steady During Late Summer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest federal survey of the job situation shows little change in either employment or unemployment from July to August.

Usually the number of jobless drops sharply in this period but the figures remained fairly stable this year—largely because unemployment did not increase as much as usual in July and therefore the seasonal return to work in August was less than in most years.

The joint monthly employment report of the Commerce and Labor departments issued yesterday, said employment increased from 62,148,000 to 62,276,000 and unemployment dropped from 3,346,000 to 3,245,000.

Unmarried Women May Face Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Women with large families seem the least likely to develop breast cancer, scientists from five continents reported today.

Their studies indicated that unmarried women over 35 are most likely to have the disease.

Results of the studies were reported at a cancer panel meeting at the International Congress of Pathology, attended by about 1,500 scientists from more than 30 nations.

Discuss More Aid For Minor Leagues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Farm directors of all 16 major league baseball clubs yesterday discussed improved financial aid for the minors. They met here with Minor League President George M. Trautman.

Lee McPhail of the New York Yankees said, "We feel the entire lower structure of baseball needs bolstering. For baseball just can't get along without the Class B, C and D loops. There have been ideas that industrial and other leagues might take their place as 'feeders' for the majors, but that time has not arrived yet."

McPhail is chairman of a subcommittee named at the recent All-Star Game to submit recommendations. He said some sort of legislation to help the minors would be ready for the December minor league sessions at Houston, Tex.

Posing for cameramen in front of Convention Hall in Atlantic City, N. J., (Sept. 7) are seven entrants in Miss America Pageant which will crown a winner on Sept. 11. C.; Miss Delaware, Barbara Jane Woodall, 20, of Claymont and Miss Maine, Mary Ellen St. John, 19, of Old Town. (AP Wirephoto)

Defending Champs Advance In Tourney

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa. (AP)—Defending champions George Rowbotham of Philadelphia and Ben Smith of Detroit have joined National Amateur champion Arnold Palmer of Cleveland and Tommy Sheehan of Detroit in the second round of the Bill Waite Memorial Invitation Golf tournament.

Palmer and Sheehan were forced to the 19th hole yesterday before defeating Don Norbury, Cape May, N.J., and Buddy Lutz of Reading, 1-up.

25 Escape Injury In "Nose" Landing

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Twenty-two passengers and three crew members escaped injury late yesterday when a twin-engine Trans-World Airlines plane nosed over while attempting a landing at International Airport.

The plane, bound from New York to Columbus, Ohio, clipped a six-foot steel fence at the edge of the runway while making its approach. The nose wheel of the plane buckled when the plane touched down and nosed along the runway and the soft turf for about 250 feet.

When it came to rest, Capt. A. V. Stahl, 39, co-pilot Roy Ward, 25, and Stewardess Dolores Martin, 24, also of New York evacuated the passengers through the door in the pilot's compartment.

"It was just like in the movies and on television. The only thing I'm mad about is that I lost a model airplane my daddy bought me in New York after we got out of the plane."

WILL MAINTAIN WATER RATIO

HARRISBURG (AP) — A valuation expert for the Scranton Spring Brook Water Co., Wilkes Barre, told the Public Utility Commission yesterday the company wants to maintain its present ratio between metered and unmetered water customers.

"The attitude of the company is to leave things exactly as they are," said Nathan Jacobs, Pittsburgh, under cross eamination by James McNulty, Scranton city solicitor.

Scranton is protesting a $837,000 annual rate imposed by Scranton Spring Brook last year.

"There is no movement by the company to force flat rate water consumers to install meters," Jacobs said.

However, Jacobs noted it was possibly, but not probable" that flat rate water customers got much more water for their money.

Jacobs also testified that conversion by all water consumers to metered service would have no effect on the company's operating income.

Attorneys for both sides in the dispute said yesterday's hearings would probably be the final one in the case.

3 Americans Tie In Old Car Race

SULGRAVE, England (AP)—Ralph T. Buckley of Absecon, N.J., gained a first place tie with two other Americans in yesterday's leg of the British-American Vintage Car rally.

Sharing first place with him at the finish of the 70 miles timed section from Cambridge to Sulgrave Manor, ancestral home of George Washington's family, were Paul J. Tusek, of Power Point, Ohio, and Sam Baily, of Bala-Cynwyd, Pa.

The United States stopped minting silver dollars in 1935, although most of the "cartwheels" now in circulation were minted between 1921 and 1927.

CHARMER AND SINGER LEADING FOR "MISS A."

Miss District of Columbia, Linda Maud Weisbrod, 21, and Miss California, 19-year-old Lee Ann Meriwether of San Francisco, won preliminary contests last night before an estimated audience of 6,000 in convention hall.

Linda Maud's rendition of the operatic aria "O Mio Fernando" was the judges' choice over the other entries in the talent competition. A coed at American University in Washington, Linda Maud has studied music for more than five years. She hopes eventually to get a job with the Metropolitan Opera.

Wearing a skin-tight swimsuit, Miss Caiflornia got the nod over her competitors in the bathing suit division test. The brunette teenager stands 5 feet 8½ inches tall and weighs 124. She has a 34½ inch bust, 22-inch waist and 35-inch hips.

Lee Ann's goal is to be an actress. She is studying drama at they City College of San Francisco.

YOUNG DRIVER KILLED

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Gerald Waiter, 17, of Nanticoke was killed yesterday when the car which he was driving struck a divider strip on the four-lane Sans Souci Parkway between Nanticoke and Wilkes-Barre.

Police said Waiter was driving toward Wilkes-Barre with five passengers when he bumped the strip in attempting to avoid another car. He lost control of the car at impact and was thrown from the vehicle. The passengers escaped injury.

Adams County Farm Agent Urges Careful Checking Of Dairy Herds In Fall

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

In the spring, farmers check their farm machinery to be sure it's all set for the season's work. Just as machinery is checked in the spring, the dairy herd should be checked each fall. Only a healthy, high-producing herd should be stabled for winter milk production. Here are some points to check.

Check all animals that are due to freshen to be sure that they are carrying a calf. It costs too much to winter a barren animal.

Heifers on pasture should be tested for Brucellosis before adding to the herd. This important if they have been on rented pasture and particularly so if they have been running with heifers from other herds.

Check for mange, lice, or any other infectious disease or parasite that might spread through the herd.

Inefficient Producers

Sell low, inefficient producers for beef. Put the extra feed saved into good cows and make more profit.

Check the water bowls. A cow must have water to make milk and water is cheap.

Use the best bull possible, artificial or natural service.

Watch yearling heifers on fall pasture. Do not allow them to lose flesh before bringing them into winter quarters.

Increasing Lamb Crop

More and more sheep are being raised on farms of the county. If sheep are to be a profitable livestock enterprise, a good lamb crop is necessary.

1. Buy a good ram, if one is needed for the flock.

2. Flushing. If the ewes are in run-down condition, turn them on pasture or feed some grain for a few weeks before the breeding season.

3. Tagging. Remove the tags or dunglocks about the dock.

Mark Ram's Breast

4. Check on ram. Know whether the ewes are getting bred. Mark the breast of the ram every day with a thick paste or ochre and lubricating oil, and change the color every 16 days.

5. If the weather is hot during the breeding season, shear the ram to keep him cooler and more vigorous.

Producers choose their breeding season to have their lambs arrive on a schedule that suits their facilities, labor situation, and market conditions.

For ewe flock replacements, owners of profitable flocks select early-maturing lambs of ewes that are good lamb raisers. These breed more readily than the culls. They keep the best stock for building up the flock.

Thirty to 40 ewes are regarded as the right number for a one-ram flock. The smaller flocks is often neglected with the result the owners lose money and soon go out of the sheep business. Whether your flock is large or small it pays to give it good care.

Making Corn Silage

In the next couple weeks we will see many Adams County farmers putting up corn silage. Proper care at harvest time will assume good quality feed during the winter months.

Keep silo in good repair with airtight walls and good fitting doors. Air must be kept out of silage if it is not to mold. It is very important to keep silo clean—clean walls and pit before using. Brushing the walls to remove stray bits of old silage takes time but pays big dividends.

Cut corn in the early dent stage. At this stage the corn is fairly rich in carotene if the leaves are still green. However, in drought years when stalks and leaves begin to dry out—then ensile corn earlier than usual without waiting for early dent stage.

A half-inch cut is desirable for corn harvested in early dent stage. Dry corn will compact best if it is cut about one-quarter inch.

A very important factor affecting quality of corn silabe is dirt. Soil bacteria tend to promote spoilage. Muddy corn bundles mean trouble. Operate the corn binder a little ahead of the haulers.

If part of the corn is rather dry ensile it first and put the greener corn in the to phalf of the silo. If corn is frosted or very dry—add water. Water helps compact it.

If leveling and tramping seem necessary, remember to tramp mostly along the wall since silage does not settle as readily there as in the center. Dry and light silage usually calls for leveling and thorough tramping. After silo is filled, tramp the silage every day for ten minutes. Repeat the operation for about five consecutive days. Remember, tramp along the wall. These simple suggestions will help obtain quality silage, but remember, quality starts with the stalk in the field.

Husky At 92, Was Delicate Infant

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Berry farmer John Green, who celebrated his 92nd birthday yesterday by going fishing in Beaver Creek, says he was such a fragile infant that his mother carried him around on a pillow.

His subsequent good health and longevity, said he, is due to "a copper-lined stomach and good whisky."

MISS UNIVERSE QUITS MOVIES TO FINISH SCHOOL

By HOWARD C. HEYN

The wholesome, country-reared Miriam, 21, announced yesterday she was terminating her six-month $250-a-week contract at Universal-International Studios, the chief prize she won with her title last July 24.

The termination was by mutual consent, but Universal spokesmen insist it is all Miss Stevenson's idea.

Did she have any talent? Those who worked with her say: As much as any girl with a nontheatrical background can display in a few weeks of coaching. Didn't she like pictures? She says she did, and she says she enjoyed meeting a lot of interesting people—the kind she doesn't see around her home town of Winnsboro, S. C.

Well, what, then? Miss Stevenson may not be too sure herself. She said:

"Things have happened so fast since I came out here for the contest that I've been studying and wondering what to do. And I decided I'd better go back and finish school. Yes, I know I arranged to put off my final year when I won the contest, but that wouldn't be right. I wouldn't want to do that now. I want to finish with my classmates."

Miriam has had three years at Lander College for Girls at Greenwood, S. C. She's always been an A and B student.

ASKS HARD COAL BE INCLUDED IN U.S. EMERGENCY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Fenton (R-Pa) has proposed that the anthracite industry of Pennsylvania be included in any federal standby program.

The Mahanoy City congressman today made public a letter in which he urged the idea on Defense Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming.

The stand-by program would be established to provide adequate facilities and supplies for an emergency. Flemming has announced he will set up a defense facilities maintenance board to carry out such a program.

"As you know, I have been constantly hammering home the necessity of our federal government doing something to aid the critical situation in the anthracite producing area of Pennsylvania, not only as an economic problem, but in the interest of our national weflare and the nation's defense program." Fenton said in his letter to Flemming.

Will Need Coal

"Coal will be absolutely needed in case of any emergency, and a continuous supply of both hard and soft coal is essential to our welfare and the national safety."

Fenton disclosed at the same time he has written to Frank W. Earnest Jr., president of the Anthractie Institute, Wilkes-Barre, which represents 90 per cent of Pennsylvania's' anthracite producers. Earnest was recently appointed a coal consultant to Harold E. Stassen, foreign operations administrator.

Ship Coal Abroad

Stassen's announcement that FOA will ship 10 million tons of coal to foreign nations was hailed by Fenton as a step he has long advocated, and he told Earnest:

"With you at Administrator Stassen's side to advise him on the coal situation it is doubly gratifying because you are fully qualified in every respect to further stress the importance of this program, both as an economic measure and in the interest of our national defense."

Fenton, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, told Earnest "I will be pleased to see you at any time, particularly to discuss any matters which might help our people, the anthracite region, and the nation."

Fenton said he was informed that at least three million tons of anthracite will be included in the FOA shipments and that this tonnage may be increased.

BUBBLERS HOST TO CAMP HILL ON SATURDAY

"Bud" Ecker's Boiling Springs High School football squad faces a rough assignment when it opens its conference season on the Bubbler bridiron Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock with Camp Hill, defending Class B Lower Susquehanna Conference champion.

Camp Hill, again fielding a big, veteran team, won a 13-0 victory over the Bubblers last year. There are 19 seniors on the 44-man Lion squad which gives plenty of experience to the team which is favored to repeat as conference titlist.

There will be seven lads in the Boiling Springs lineup who opposed Camp Hill last year. Charles Sherman, center, will serve as co-captain with Eddish Dasher, a back. Others who played in last year's tilt will include Ken Smith and John Stover, guards; Irvin Fanus, tackle; Paul Bishop, end, and Grover Beam, a back.

Additional Bubblers who are expected to see action include Marlin Lear and Jerry Shultz, tackles; Dave Cook and Ronnie Lebo, guards; Paul Dugan, Bob Hammon and Charles Fickle, ends; Dick Sherman, center; Cletus Wise Tom Lebo, Tim Gephart, Russell Grove and Glenn Witmer.

A new electric scoreboard and new public address system will be used for the first time.

REVENUE BOARD SEEKS OPINION ON TAX REBATES

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Board of Finance and Revenue said it will ask the state attorney general to give a formal opinion on whether tax rebates should be classified public information.

Weldon B. Heyburn, state treasurer and chairman of the board, said the request for the formal opinion from Atty. Gen. Frank F. Truscott is being circulated among board members for their approval.

The department is the commonwealth's tax fund agency which rebates about five million dollars annually in tax monies.

Informed Opinion

Dep. Atty. Gen. George W. Keitel recently said in an informal opinion that the corporate and individual tax refunds are not public information under provisions of the state fiscal code.

Gene D. Smith, secretary of the commonwealth and a member of the board, said that during the fiscal year ending May 31, 1954, the refund agency approved payments totaling $5,016,322, of which $612,461 went to corporations, plus $40,542 in remission of corporation penalties imposed but not paid.

Smith explained that "eighty per cent of the refunds to corporations were based on court decisions." He said they usually do not involve cash payments, but constitute credits to the corporations' accounts.

The bulk of last year's funds were made on the state's beer tax for which bottlers purchase tax crowns. Credits were given in the amount of $3,306,115.32 for the redemption of taxes paid on crowns used on beer shipped outside Pennsylvania for sales in other states, it was explained.

Elections Coming In Brazil In Oct.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — President Joao Cafe Filno said Tuesday night his new coalition government "has no preferences" among contending parties in next month's general elections.

Speaking in a nationwide radio address on the occasion of Brazilian Independence Day, Cafe promised there will be no act of favoritism or hostility from his regime toward any group that shows itself favorable to Democratic ideals.

New Oxford

NEW OXFORD—Mr. and Mrs. Evan Butler, Hanover, R. 4, became parents of a son at the Hanover Hospital September 3. The father is an alumnus of New Oxford High School.

The Rev. William Lynn and the Rev. Walter Stokes, Jesuit Fathers from Woodstock, Md., recently assisted the Rev. Philip J. Gergen, pastor, with services at the local Catholic Church.

Seminarian Paul Miller, who is continuing his studies for the Catholic priesthood as a student at St. Charles seminary, Overbrook, returned there this week after being at home since June with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, and family.

Mrs. Vena Reber, near town, has been a patient at Hanover Hospital.

The locla 500 Club which suspended bi-monthly meetings in June, is scheduled to resume activity Tuesday evening, September 14, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Donohue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carbaugh have received word the infant son recently born to their son-in-law and daughter, Robert and Mildred Carbaugh Wheeler, Middletown, R.I., has been named Stephen, and that another grnadchild, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carbaugh Baltimore, has been named Rosemary Lynn.

Miss Sylvia Ann Yohe, daughter of Kenneth Yohe, Pine Run, has entered her probationary period as a student nurse at York Hospital. Also in the nursing class is another local graduate, Miss Francse Costella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Costella, near town.

Word has been received here the infant son born in mid-August to John and Pauline Topper Adamik, Lancaster, has been named John Allen Adamik. Before their marriage last summer, Mrs. Adamik was a resident of this area.

A form of revival of the ancient custom of the "Lord's Acre" wherein farmers reserve a portion of their land for the use of the church or the needy, has been in progress here for the benefit of Emory Methodist Church. The Misses Margaret and Lillia Otto, church members, have donated the sweet corn grown in a portion of their fields for use of this type, and a stand has been set up at the church at the Square where church women will sell the corn to passers-by. Proceeds from these sales have been very satisfactory within the past two weeks.

POLITICAL FUSS RAGES IN U.S.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Former Gov. J. Strom Thurmond's write-in entry into the U.S. Senate race in South Carolina has fanned a factional fight among state Democrats

Thurmond led the split in the Democratic party when he ran for president on the States Rights ticket in 1948. He will oppose State Sen. Edgar A. Brown, who helped keep the state in the party fold in 1952. Thurmond supported Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952.

Brown was named by the State Executive Committee to run for the seat vacant since the death of Sen. Burnet R. Maybank last Wednesday. Maybank had been renominated in the June Democratic primary. There is no Republican candidate.

In traditionally Democratic South Carolina nomination spells election, but when the state committee named Brown as the candidate, claiming that time did not permit a primary, opposition arose.

After Brown was announced as the party candidate, Gov. James F. Byrnes, who supported President Eisenhower in 1952, appointed Charles E. Daniel, a construction firm president, to the unexpired term which ends Jan. 2.

STEVENSON ADDRESSES $100 PLATE DINNER

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, pinpointing the task of the Democratic party's nationwide campaign opening today, says it should "give direction again to a foreign policy which wallows aimlessly and dangerously while a bunch of bickering helmsmen quarrel at the wheel."

The 1952 candidate for president promises, at the same time, that Democrats this fall will "talk issues . . . whether the Republicans want to or not."

Stevenson spoke last night before 3,000 persons who paid $100 a plate at a Democratic fund-raising dinner officially commencing 36-year-old State Sen. George M. Leader's campaign for governor of Pennsylvania.

The Keystone State has had only one Democratic state administration in nearly 60 years.

Stevenson took note of this and, borrowing from a popular Republican campaign slogan of 1952, quipped that in Pennsylvania in particular it is "really time for a change."

The speech was the first major address by a party leader since Labor Day, the traditional opening day of campaigning.

Admitting that he is no "great admirer" of the Eisenhower administration's recent conduct of foreign affairs, Stevenson said he feels "no inclination" to blame the Republicans for the Indochina situation.

"Nor am I even tempted in this direction by Vice President Nixon's newest nonsense — that the Democrats are responsible for the loss of Indochina," he added.

He followed his remark about foreign policy wallowing aimlessly by saying that Pennsylvania in particular should be aware of this "for you have one senator in each wing."

"I mean in each major wing — for there seem to be more wings in Republican foreign policy than a boarding house chicken."

Pennsylvania's two senators are Edward Martin and James H. Duff.

Appealing to fellow Democrats to stick to "issues" this fall, he declared:

"Bring Forth Issues"

"We face the obligation to lift this campaign a considerable notch above the level of slander and ugly bitter name calling to which our political dialogue has sunk in recent months."

The job of the Democrats, he said, is to bring forth the real issues in this campaign from behind the slogans and the catchwords in which they are camouflaged."

Country must be placed above party, he said, and "decency above ambition" during the weeks of the campaign.

"If it is the Republicans' choice to generate heat, it is still our duty to shed light," he said.

"We know and have full regard for the value of vigorous political debate. But false, accusing cries of treachery and murder and treason are not the language of democratic debate. They are the language of hate — the epithets of enemies.

"And if the time ever comes when Republicans really regard Democrats or Democrats regard Republicans as enemies then truly the processes of democracy will stop — for those processes require, as between the two great parties, compromise, cooperation and respect."

WATKINS GAVEL BANGS M'CARTHY INTO SILENCE

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy said "I felt that . . . "

Sen. Watkins cut him short. "Let's not get into what you felt," said Watkins.

In a sentence Watkins pointed up the difference between last spring's televised McCarthy-Army hearings and the present untelevised hearings by a Senate committee on demands that McCarthy be censured for his official conduct.

The Wisconsin Republican is in an icebox. Washington has been sweating in a savage burst of summer. But the caucus room, where the present hearings are held, is cold. It's not the temperature. It's the attitude.

Committee Impersonal

The committee of six senators, sitting across a long table from McCarthy, look at him as coolly and impassively as if he were a stranger. They do not appear hostile. They seem impersonal.

It apparently has been enough to chill McCarthy.

Chairman Watkins, dignified, white-haired Utah Republican and onetime judge, said repeatedly before these hearings began he would conduct them like an examination in a courtroom.

Cold Atmosphere

McCarthy tried once on Watkins what he did so many times successfully to Sen. Mundt (R-SD), chairman of the McCarthy-Army hearings: he tried to interrupt. Watkins banged him into silence with his gavel.

McCarthy hasn't tried it again.

But the coldness of these hearings isn't directed at McCarthy alone. It pervades the caucus room and extends to the members of the committee too in their relations with one another.

1,200-Pound Bison Downed In Ohio

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A thunder of hoofbeats, the angry barking of rifles and the charging buffalo bit the dust just feet away from his two intended victims.

A Western prairie a century ago? No, a woods near here yesterday, with farmer Russell Kiko and his 13-year-old son Dan killing the 1,200-pound bison with .22-caliber rifles.

The buffalo was one of four which belong on Tony Diano's animal farm and have been breaking out and roaming hereabouts altogether too often to suit Diano's neighbors.

Mayor Complies And Empties Workhouse

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mayor Ben West emptied the city workhouse late yesterday by turning 30 prisoners loose and transferring six others to the county workhouse, on the heels of a court order to close the jail and workhouse.

City Workhouse Supt. E. F. Benderman quoted West as saying he took the unprecedented action in an effor to comply with a Chancery Court ruling yesterday which enjoined the city from operating the jail and workhouse until the building is made habitable.

Allenberry Plays "Death Of Salesman"

A production of Arthur Miller's Pulitzer Prize drama, "Death of a Salesman," staged by Richard North Gage, opens at Allenberry Playhouse, Boiling Springs, next Monday.

David Brubaker is cast in the role of Willy Loman, the salesman. It will be his first appearance at the Playhouse in nearly three years. Brubaker has played lead roles in Allenberry productions of "Papa Is All," "Born Yesterday," "Our Town," and "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Bettie Endrizzi is cast as the salesman's wife with John Halow and Jack McCarrell playing the roles of his sons. Also featured in the cast are Donald Marye, David Warren, Hal Hamilton, and John McMartin.

York Springs

LIONS OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The York Springs Lions held a joint meeting with the Dillsburg Lions on Tuesday at the York Springs Scout Cabin.

This being the 15th anniversary of the York Springs Club, awards were given to the charter members for 15 years of membership. The awards were presented by Zone Chairman Wesley Schaible of the Fairfield Club. Those receiving these rewards were N. D. Starry, R. L. Pittenturf, W. M. Lott, Ross Koons, Ralph Kennedy, M. S. Hershey and F. E. Coulson.

Clyde Kennedy and Donald Miller received pins for 10-year membership.

Zone Chairman Schaible then inducted two new members to the York Springs club: Robert Spertzel, sponsored by Fred Stough, and Robert Rynard, sponsored by Paul Trump. International Counselor Bud Smith of the Dillsburg club, who was responsible for organizing the York Springs club, congratulated the club and spoke of international good will created by Lions International.

Paul Trump was appointed general chairman for the annual York Springs Halloween parade to be held the last Saturday of October. The meal was prepared and served by a committee consisting of Ross Koons, Clyde Kennedy and Ralph Kennedy. A ball game was played between the two clubs.

YOUNG PRIEST HURT IN CRASH

Rev. Fr. Charles Wilk, 26 year old Washington D.C. assistant pastor enroute to his home at Avoca, Pa., was involved in an auto accident 4.7 miles north of here on the Harrisburg Rd. late Wednesday morning.

State Police said Rev. Fr. Wilk was following a line of cars in the rain, when two cars and a truck ahead slowed and stopped for a section in the road being repaired. The Wilk car skidded into the rear of an auto operated by Harold J. Mahoney, 23, Pottsville, Pa.

Damage was estimated at $500 to each vehicle. Fr. Wilk was brought to the Warner Hospital suffering from a contusion of the chest, a slight laceration of the nose and contusion of the head.

The accident was one of two investigated Wednesday morning by state police here. The other occurred four miles north of Caledonia on the Fuller Lake road. Cars operated by Charles L. Bitzer, 61, Harrisburg and George A. Miller, 28, Chambersburg, sideswiped. Damage totalled $450. No one was reported injured.

FIREMEN OPEN

Plans were announced to have the rescue truck at the South Mountain Fair this evening for a demonstration of the equipment of the vehicle as part of the Civil Defense program. The truck will leave the firehouse here at 6:15 o'clock this evening and members were asked to assist in the demonstration.

Leo Culp, New Oxford, a member of the Gettysburg company, was reported improved. He was admitted as a patient at the Warner Hospital after collapsing following the parade at McSherrystown Monday afternoon. President William G. Weaver said that the insurance carried by the local company covers Mr. Culp's illness because it occurred at a regular function of the fire company.

Discuss Convention

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg National Park, a guest at the meeting, praised the company and said the Park Service is pleased to have the company use the former CCC facilities.

Much of the meeting was given over to discussion concerning the State Convention at Lebanon October 4, 5, 6 and 7. The company turned down the offer of use of a CIO hall for lodging for the members, and accepted an offer of five rooms at Annville, five miles from Lebanon. In conection with the hall Lebanon officials said they felt they could secure cots for the firemen but could give no estimate of cost. The local firemen decided instead to set an amount which will be paid delegates to cover food and lodging and then let those attending find their own quarters.

Dissatisfaction was expressed over the treatment received by the local firemen on housing at Lebanon. The local firemen at the time they applied for quarters were assured they were first to apply and would receive first consideration for rooms.

Firemen reported they had been told by the committee that Gettysburg was "bumped" by others. The company plans to meet again next Wednesday evening to make final plans for convention attendance and expects that its delegates will carry proxies from every member of the unit to the convention. Gettysburg thus will have more than 200 votes to cast at the convention. Firemen said the approximately $700 dues paid by the local firemen to the state organization, "is a lot more than the amount paid by a majority of companies and we should have a larger say."

In connection with the convention, Fire Chief Jacobs told the group: "Remember we are still the state champs. We won the honor last parade and let's go back to Lebanon this year and show them what we can do."

Named to the duty roster for the special meeting next Wednesday were Daniel Miller, Eugene Miller, Roy Millhimes, Harry Mort and John Murray.

NSC AND IKE TO CONFER ON ASIA AND RED ISSUES

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER (AP)—National Security Council members meeting with President Eisenhower in extraordinary session here Sunday reportedly will chart strategy for dealing with a broad range of Far Eastern problems created by Russia and Red China.

And an hour in advance of that special meeting, the Summer White House announced today, the President will confer with Atty. Gen. Brownell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover on how to smash Communist infiltration at home.

The Brownell-Hoover conference with Eisenhower will center on how best to use the new Communist control weapons the 83rd Congress put on the law books.

Plans for the National Security Council meeting—the first full-scale session of that top policy-making unit ever to be held outside of Washington—were announced yesterday by James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary.

He said Eisenhower was summoning the council, which he heads, to hear a first-hand report from Secretary of State Dulles on the new Southeast Asia security pact, signed yesterday at Manila by the United States and seven other nations.

Presidential associates said the security council session will amount to a full-dress review of Far Eastern problems generally.

McFarland Stages Upset In Arizona

Surprising even his most optimistic supporters, the former majority leader of the U. S. Senate overwhelmed State Sen. William Kimball in a lopsided race that was decided within four hours after the polls closed Tuesday.

He led from the start in all 14 of the state's counties and even carried Kimball's own district.

"The Democratic voters of Arizona have not only spoken, they have shouted," Kimball wired the victor. "Congratulations."

McFarland led 42,086 to 16,104 in incomplete returns from 344 of the state's top precincts. He will oppose Gov. Howard Pyle, the Republican incumbent, who had no opposition for renomination.

FATHER, SON DIE OF POLIO

START WORK ON ATOMIC PLANT FOR ELECTRICITY

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa. (AP)—With the fanfare out of the way construction workers Tuesday took over at the site of the world's first full scale atomic power plant for making electricity.

President Eisenhower waved a radioactive "magic wand" in Denver Monday to set some earth moving equipment in operation here.

The government, which previously went it alone on atomic devlopments, is a partner in the enterprise with Duquesne Light Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp., both of Pittsburgh.

The Atomic Energy Commission says the plant is expected to be operating sometime in 1957. It is designed to provide enough electricity for about 100,000 residents. The project is expected to cost in the neighborhood of 45 to 50 million dollars.

The plant is not to be a sprawling affair and won't attract much notice from passersby. Most of it will be underground. It will be basically a steam generating plant with uranium, instead of coal, for fuel.

525 Degree Water

Heat from splitting uranium atoms will heat water up to 525 degrees. The water won't boil because it will be under about 2,000 pounds of pressure.

The super-heated water will heat a second supply of water. the latter, under low pressure, will turn to steam. And the steam will go into a turbine to operate a generator with a capacity of about 60,000 kilowatts.

There will be no danger to residents of this area about 25 miles northwest of Pittsburgh, said the atomic energy commission.

"We have designed this plant to be completely safe," said Rear Adm. Hyman Rickenover, in charge of the project for the AEC. "Even the same water will be used over and over again."

Westinghouse will build the nuclear reactor under contract with the AEC. And, when the job is finished, Duquesne will operate the plant and pay the AEC for the steam generated by the reactor.

This does not mean that the days of cheap atomic power are at hand. It may be sometime before cheap electric power is available.

Couple Divorced For Second Time

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Juan M. Caloca and his wife, the former Zyne Hamid, were divorced Tuesday for the second time since their 1943 marriage. The couple, which has two children, was first divorced in 1947 then remarried two years later.

Mrs. Caloca, who is a member of the Atlantic City, N. J., Hamid family and a vice president of Steel Pier, was granted the divorce by Bucks County Judge Edward G. Biester on grounds of indignities.

Mrs. Caloca is a resident of Makefield Twp., near Yardley, Pa. The papers listed her husband's address as Hollywood, Calif., and his last known occupation as operator of Kiddieland Park near the Trenton, N. J., Fair Grounds.

Ritz-Carlton Hotel Sells Furnishings

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The famed old Ritz-Carlton Hotel played host Tuesday to scores of vistors who roamed the corridors and climbed the stairs as many others had done before.

But this time the setting was changed and the purpose of the visit quite different from earlier, more pleasant days.

The Ritz has been sold and is now to be converted into an office building.

Tuesday's crowd came to an auction of the hotel's entire furnishings—including some 30 bedroom suites, 1,250 doors and 400 full-length french mirrors.

A complete remodeling at a cost of more than 3 millions will transform the old hostelry into the latest downtown office building, the Pennsylvania Lumberman's Mutual Insurance Building.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Martin J. Cunningham, partner and general manager of Boulevard Pools, posted $5,000 bail Tuesday on a contempt of court charge for refusing to admit Negroes to his establishment.

There will be a further hearing on the charge Sept. 20. Cunningham surrendered yesterday to face the charge issued by Common Pleas Court last Saturday. Negroes were admitted to the pool for the first time on Sunday.

Orrtanna

ORRTANNA—Mrs. A. B. Erlain and daughter, Alma, Pittsburgh spent a day the past week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Biesecker.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tressler had as guests during the past week their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas, and son, Mark, York, Mrs. Tressler's brother, Samuel Brewer, and his son, Charles, and grandson, Robert Brewer, all of Emmitsburg.

Mrs. Hannah Biggs, daughter, Jean, spent several days as guests of Miss Helen Reeseman, Curvinsville, and with Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Spade, Mifflinburg.

Mrs. Mabert Dickey and Johnie Dickey, Washington, spent Sunday and Labor Day with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spence.

Mrs. Sarah Krise, Hanover, is visiting at the homes of her brothers, Roy and Curtis Chapman, and with Mrs. R. M. King.

Mrs. Mary Tressler and Mrs. Bertha Sheelley were hostesses to the W. S. C. S. at the Tressler home here last Thursday evening.

Miss Gertrude Shuler, Millersville, was a recent guest of Mrs. Hannah Biggs and daughter, Jean.

Kenneth Mickley attended a reunion of the 29th Army Division in Pittsburgh over the past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Appolon Trembow and daughter Tynia, and son, Ray, recently visited in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shulley Sunday afternoon visited his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Rock, Tomstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stansbury, Mrs. Wilmer Wetzel, Harry and Nevin Weikert, spent the weekend on a tour through Virginia and West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McGlaughlin and four children, Emmitsburg have moved to the I. Z. Musselman residence in Orrtanna. Mr. and Mrs. James Brown moved to the home vacated by the McGlaughlins.

Guests of Mrs. C. T. Vance during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Vance, Sally and Jack Vance, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Mason, all of Washington, and Norris Mellor, New York.

DEWEY BOOSTS IVES

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey personally urged Sen. Irving Ives, of New York, to be a candidate for governor in a three-hour conference early Wednesday, a spokesman for Dewey disclosed.

There was no word as to how Ives responded to Dewey's urgings.

Harry O'Donnell, press secretary for Dewey, announced:

"Gov. Dewey and Sen. Ives conferred last night for three hours.

British scientists think they have seen an American robin which somehow had crossed the Atlantic, very possibly under its own power.

Born On August 21, She Has Polio Now

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — St. Francis Hospital here has what is believed to be the youngest polio patient in the United States.

Judy Ann Ponder, who was born Aug. 21, was admitted to the hospital with the disease on Tuesday. She became ill two days before.

Mount St. Mary's Opens Its 147th Academic Year With A Solemn High Mass Tuesday

Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., second oldest Catholic college in the United States will begin its 147th academic year on Tuesday, September 14, with a solemn mass of the Holy Ghost. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William F. Culhane, vice president of the college will celebrate the mass in the college chapel with more than 600 college and seminary students in attendance.

Orientation for 185 freshman began on Thursday, September 9, with a series of tests and lectures by members of the faculty and administration of the college including the dean of studies, Rev. Francis P. Kearney, and dean of men, Rev. William McGonigle, and the guidance director, Rev. Joseph B. Tremont. The freshman enrollment at 185 is about 15 above last year and raises total enrollment in the college to about 509, capacity for the college. In addition to the testing program freshmen socials were held both at Mount St. Mary's and at St. Joseph's College.

Heaviest enrollment is from New York with 42 new students. Pennsylvania and New Jersey rank next highest with 34 from each state. Twenty-two new freshmen are from Maryland. Fourteen states, the District of Columbia, and the British West Indies comprise the areas from which the freshman class has been drawn.

Several changes in administration have occurred at the college for the new academic term. Rt. Rev. William F. Culhane, succeeds Rev. Francis P. McNelis as vice president; Rev. Hugh J. Phillips succeeds the late Rev. Elwood Berry as secretary of the college Council, and Rev. Dr. Francis P. Kearney succeeds Rev. Carl J. Fives as dean of studies.

Few changes have been made in the college faculty. Rev. John F. Cogan Jr., returns to the faculty as head of the philosophy department after a years leave of absence and Rev. Francis P. McNelis has resigned for pastoral work at Immaculate Conception parish, Allentown, Pa.

There are two new faces in the athletic and physical education department. James Phelan, La Salle College graduate, has been named head coach of basketball and baseball succeeding Bill Clarke. James McKeon, a 1953 graduate of Mount St. Mary's is the new head man in track and soccer.

Present enrollment figures show 185 freshmen, 27 sophomores, 116 juniors, and 82 seniors. Students come from 3 continents, 16 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the British West Indies. South America, Mexico, Japan, and China each have one student in attendance. Forty Korean veterans are in attendance at the college.

For the first time in forty-two years, Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of the college, will miss opening exercises as he sails for Europe on September 9 aboard the liner Andrea Doria for a Marian year pilgrimage during which he will be present at the ordination of Rev. Philip Barrett, North American College, Rome, who will return to the Mount St. Mary's faculty.

Council Heads Win Flanagan Prize

Student Council presidents have won the Edward J. Flanagan Memorial Prize during the two years in which it has been offered. In 1953 Harry McPartland, Brooklyn, won it and in 1954, Council president James Staudenmeier received the award.

One of the most coveted honors at Mount St. Mary's the prize is offered annually to the senior who best represents the tradition of Mount St. Mary's in scholarship, leadership, and conduct.

The prize is a memorial to Edward J. Falanagan, Lt., USMC, Rahway, N.J., who graduated in 1951 and died on February 8, 1953, of wounds received in action in Korea. Flanagan was a top athlete at Mount St. Mary's winning letters in both varsity basketball and football during all four years of college.

St. Joseph's Names New Dean Lists Other Faculty Changes

Sister Mary Agnes, president of St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, has announced the following changes in administration and faculty at the College for 1954-55.

Sister Rosemary, Ph. D., formerly head of the Division of History and Social Science, has been appointed dean of studies, succeeding Sister Robertine, Ph. D. Sister Robertine will serve as dean of the Sisters' Division of the College and professor in the Department of Education.

Sister Mary Ellen, M. A., has been named dean of students, to succeed Sister Monica, who will serve as principal of St. Ambrose School, Endicott, N. Y. Sister Mary Ellen, a member of the College faculty for 11 years, will continue as Alumnae Sister and moderator of the Valley Echo.

Other Changes

Faculty changes include the appointment of Louis W. Clark, Ph. D., to the chemistry department with the rank of professor. Dr. Clark, who received his doctorate from Kansas State College, comes to St. Joseph's from Panhandle A. & M. College, Goodwell, Okla. He replaces Sister Mary Joan, M. S., who will teach at Immaculate Conception Academy, Washington.

Sister Margaret Ann, who recently received her Ph. D. in English from St. John's University, Brooklyn, has joined the English Department. Sister will serve as moderator of Allegra, the College yearbook.

Sister Mary James, who received her Master of Library Science degree from St. John's this summer, has been named as a full-time assistant to Sister Margaret Mary, librarian.

Other Sisters who have left the College faculty are Sister Augustine, missioned to Bishop English High School, Charleston, S. C., and Sister Anna Mae, who has gone to Seton High School, Baltimore.

Dramatic Students Take Show On Road

Last year's Melpothalians, the St. Joseph College footlight and grease paint group at St. Joseph College, took to the road with their production of Thornton Wilder's Our Town.

Following the original campus staging the actors produced their show at Gonzaga High School in Washington. Mt. St. Mary's College actors helped in the portrayal, which was directed by Donald J. Waters, St. Joseph dramatic coach.

Tradition testifies that the Blessed Virgin appeared to an Indian chief named Ottawanta at the spot where the statue of Our Lady of the Fields stands on the St. Joseph campus.

Liturgy Club Has Active First Year

A Liturgy Club was organized in 1953 on the Saint Joseph College campus. The organization aims to prepare its members to take their places in the world as Catholic wives and mothers.

Mrs. Donald J. Waters served as moderator for the club. A graduate of Marywood College in Scranton, Pa., she has done graduate work at Catholic University, and also attended courses in Catholic Action at Grailville, in Loveland, Ohio.

The club was active throughout the year.

Budding SJC Author Contest Galt Prize

Budding St. Joseph College authors have an opportunity to display their talents in the annual Sterling Galt contest for literary excellence.

Competitors for the three cash prizes of $25, 15 and 10 submit entries in either prose or verse on an assigned theme. Maximum length for prose is 2,500 words; minimum for poetry is 14 lines. Winners receive their awards at the annual Honors Convocation in June.

J. Ward Kerrigan, Emmitsburg insurance and real estate broker, donates the top prize in memory of his friend, the late Sterling Galt, former editor and journalist.

The first free parochial school in the United States was started in Emmitsburg by Mother Seton, founder of St. Joseph's.

Saint Joseph College Will Officially Open September 15 With Solemn High Mass

Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg, will formally open its 145th year on September 15 with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass celebrated by the Rev. Hugh F. O'Donnell, C.M., college chaplain. The Mass in honor of the Seven Dolors of the Blessed Virgin will be said at 8 a.m. in the college chapel. Preceding the Mass, the lay faculty and students will gather in academic attire on the Belvedere of Vincent building and will proceed in procession to Burlando building and the chapel.

Following the Mass, breakfast will be served in DuBois Hall, and the students will then proceed to class.

Upperclassmen are due back on campus on the evening of September 13. The following day a general convocation will be held in DePaul Auditorium at 9:30 a.m., with Sister Mary Agnes, president of the college, presiding. At that time new faculty members will be introduced to the students. Class meetings will follow the convocation and classes will formally open that afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Requiem For Fr. Berry

On Thursday, September 16, a Requiem Mass will be celebrated by the chaplain for the repose of the soul of the Rev. Elwood S. Berry, lecturer in Latin for many years at Saint Joseph's.

Among the faculty changes, in addition to those listed elsewhere in these columns, is that of the appointment of Sister Marie Therese, assistant registrar, as lecturer in sophomore journalism. In addition, sister will serve on the Committee for Public Relations. Sister Immaculata is scheduled to teach two sections of freshman composition.

The Rev. Hugh F. O'Donnell will have the freshmen and sophomores for religion and the juniors for psychology. Sister Rosemary, dean of studies, will teach a philosophy course to the freshmen who are in the nursing program.

In addition to senior religion, the Rev. Robert R. Kline of Mt. St. Mary's will carry senior philosophy, which includes theodicy and the history of philosophy, and junior religion.

Students Come From 16 States

Student enrollment figures for 1953-54 show that the student body at Mount St. Mary's College was drawn from 3 continents, 5 foreign countries, 1 U.S. possession, 1 British possession and 16 states.

Ecuador and Columbia, South America, each had one student enrolled; China, 2; Japan, 1; Mexico, 1; Puerto Rico,1; and Trinidad, British West Indies, 1.

Wasilifsky Family Finds French Fun When Combined With Activities At Laval

Reminiscing over their summer studies at Laval University, Quebec, are members of the Wasilifsky family of "Fileremo," Emmitsburg. They are Michael, Maryon, Dr. Wasilifsky, Justin, and Mrs. Wasilifsky.

"Ask Mother; it was all her idea!" Thus did Adolph M. Wasilifsky, Ph. D., head of the Department of English at St. Joseph College, explain how it happened that the entire family studied at Laval, Quebec this past summer.

Laughing lightly at the blunt statement of her husband, Mrs. Wasilifsky, a member of the faculty of St. Joseph High School, Emmitsburg, spoke of the experience as a family vacation. At first the family had thought of going to an ocean resort for several weeks, but that would just be a repeat of something that had taken place other summers. It was Mother who then suggested a more cultural experience—why not Laval to study French?

Dr. and Mrs. Wasilifsky had been to Quebec on four previous occasions, and Maryon, their daughter, a soph at SJC, had visited this Canadian city once. For Michael and Justin, a high school junior and eighth grader, respectively, Quebec was a completely new experience.

No Drudgery

Echoing the sentiments of the entire family, Maryon was emphatic in her statement that school in the summer is no drudgery when combined with the pleasures of discovering so historical a city as Quebec.

"In addition to that," she recalled with animation, "we made a side trip to St. Anne de Beaupre, visited the near-by Laurentian Mountains, and enjoyed swims in such picturesque mountain lakes as Lac Beauport. Then on campus there were Saturday night French folk dances, a formal dance staged by the teen-age students, and a final Soiree with skits ranging from the Master of Pathelin to satires on the university teachers."

Quizzing the Wasilifskys on their summer courses, one gets a more or less synoptic view of the summer program of the French School at Laval. Awarded a post-graduate fellowship by the Dean of Laval, Dr. Wasilifsky was entitled to study any subject of his choice. His choice was comparative drama. Phonetics, composition, and conversation composed the program of the mother of the family, and the children studied grammar and conversation suited to their level of accomplishment, with a delightful course in folk song, folklore, and dance.

Lively Classes

Mrs. Wasilifsky found the conversation courses most helpful. "They were conducted in a unique manner," she explanied enthusiastically. "Each week there was a new teacher. By the end of the six-week period we had been exposed to a variety of mannerisms, tonal variety, and vocabulary. Field trips, such as one to the Plains of Abraham, where the objects discussed were actually before us, served to enliven these classes immensely."

Here Mrs. Wasilifsky broke off suddenly in her conversation. There had come a muffled choke from the corner of the room where Justin was examining photos of his two Korean classmates of the summer.

Concealing as well as he could pride mingled with embarrassment, Justin told of the accomplishment of an ambition secretly fostered since he was six.

Imitates Gen. Wolfe

"Ever since I first heard of Wolfe's feat of scaling the cliff leading to the Plains of Abraham, I was determined to do it too, if I ever got the chance. And I did!"

However, Father Wasilifsky pointed out that Justin's adventure differed slightly from that of his hero—Justin chose a far more precipitous point for his climb. Mother Wasilifsky still loses a heart beat when the subject is mentioned.

Variety in nationality, personality, and cultural background composed the 389 students in Laval's French School. Seven Marylanders in addition to the Wasilifsky's and representatives of 35 other States comprised the delegation from the United States, while 14 foreign countries were represented on the roster of students.

Teaching Devices

Describing the teaching methods of Laval, Dr. Wasilifsky was enthusiastic about the devices used to overcome that "suffocating feeling that comes with weeks of lecture during which one is unable to completely comprehend the ideas and the language."

"Laval used two clever devices," the Doctor explained. "One is a system of monitors and the other, the Grande Salle. The monitors are French-speaking graduate students who attend the classes. At the end of each session these students are available for questioning about material from the class. They explain the more difficult parts in simpler French. Oh, yes, it must be in French always—we signed a pledge to speak only French while in the School."

Carrying on the explanation of these methods, Mrs. Wasilifsky spoke of the Grande Salle as a large auditorium-like room in which class members meet with a monitor to discuss yesterday's lesson before going to today's. By thrashing out difficulties before the class, the teacher is not delayed, and the student is prepared for a quiz on the previous lesson.

History-making Event

En masse enrollment of a family at Laval was a history-making event. Never in its nearly 300-year existence had such an event occurred.

"So unique was our coming," laughed Mrs. Wasilifsky, "that we were written up in the New York Times."

"After that article," added Dr. Wasilifsky, "people would come up to me and ask, 'Are you the father . . . ?' When I nodded they would roll their eyes and exclaim, 'Quel courage!' "

FRIEND OF PRESIDENT

President Andrew Jackson was a great friend of Bishop DuBois, founder of Mount St. Mary's College. When Jackson needed a secretary he asked DuBois for a good man and hired Harry Lee, '10, upon the Bishop's advice.

MANY CUSTOMS ARE TRADITIONS AT ST. JOSEPH'S

Freshman Welcome

Inspired by the traditional atmosphere of friendliness, the upper classes make a special effort to help the freshmen feel at home. Each class participates in the welcome to the newcomers. Junior big sisters honor their freshman proteges at a formal tea and a bond is formed between the two classes that lasts for many years.

Cap and Gown Investiture

The college chapel is the scene of the investiture ceremony which takes place in October. The entire student body assists by forming a guard of honor through which the new students pass to the altar rail. Here the president of the college places upon their heads the black mortarboard which signifies matriculation into higher education.

Valley Home Weekend

Plans are made for the Valley Home weekend in the fall when parents visit the campus as guests of the College to meet faculty and friends. The dance on Saturday night in honor of the parents closes with the traditional College song, "All Together."

Junior Ring Ceremony

During Christmas season the vice president of the College places the class ring with its college seal on the student's finger. It brings a merited sense of pride and achievement.

Christmas Caroling

The night before Christmas vacation begins, the spirit of the Christ Child touches each and every girl as student carolers wind their way across the campus.

Blazer Investiture

Senior Prom

During May, DuBois Hall is transformed into a ballroom and the glamor of music, flowers and full-dress attire ushers in the Senior Prom. After an evening of joyful festivity, the seniors and their escorts are served breakfast in the Green Room while the underclassmen, like Cinderella, must return to their halls.

Sophomore-Senior Farewell

This is the day on which the sophomores prove to their sister class that they will be missed after graduation. The day is completely planned by the sophomores, who entertain the seniors as their guests. There is a tear in many a senior eye as the sophomores bring the day to a close by passing through the courtyard with lighted candles singing their farewell song.

Freshman Tree Planting

The grand finale of freshman year is the Freshman Tree Planting. The class passes on, but the tree is forever a reminder of their youthful spirits and hearts.

Senior Novena of Thanksgiving

During the last nine days they will be on the campus Mass is celebrated in the little chapel in the White House for the members of the senior class. The spirit of Mother Seton and her daughters is close to the graduates as the shadow of past devotions blends with their prayers of thanksgiving for four fruitful years in the Valley.

Marial Soiree is a treasured part of Commencement ceremonies when the departing seniors bid farewell to the true spirit of the Valley, our Blessed Mother. With lighted candles and bearing red roses, they circle Virgo Potens and raise their voices in a song of goodbye.

NAT'L ALUMNAE FOUNDERS WERE S.J.C. GRADS

Three St. Joseph College graduates were co-founders in November, 1914 of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae. Sister Mary De Paul Cogan, Mrs. Clara Douglas Sheeran and Sister Augustine Parks began organization of the group at a special meeting of the St. Joseph alumnae association in February, 1914.

After preliminary work by the New York Chapter of the St. Joseph College Alumnae, the plan of the organization was submitted to His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons and with his sanction the work was inaugurated. By June, 1914, three cardinals had approved the work and 18 alumnae associations had joined the movement.

On November 27, 1914, the Federation was officially established at the national meeting held at the Hotel McAlphin in New York. Sister DePaul Cogan was elected its first president. Today more than 500 alumnae associations are affiliated with IFCA. The group is active in the fields of Catholic education, literature, motion pictures, and social service. The purpose of the federation is to unite the alumnae of Catholic colleges and academies to constitute a moral, religious and social force.

Stump your friends with this one!

Next time neighbors come over for the evening, ask them how much they think a telephone call to the most distant part of the country costs. Chances are they'll guess way too high. Because after 6 p. m. or on Sundays, you can actually call station-to-station anywhere in the United States for two dollars or less! (This minimum charge doesn't include federal tax which is now only 10%.) Now that you think of it, isn't there someone you'd like to call right now?

New neighbors down the road?

You'll be calling on them soon. Mom will bake a cake, Pop will help around the house, the kids will show their new friends where the swimming hole is. All of us owe newcomers little courtesies like these. And we feel the same way about party-line telephone service, too. If someone's on the phone when you want to use it, you hang up gently and give the person a chance to finish his conversation. This, and other acts of consideration, are neighborly things to do. And they make party-line service much better for everyone!

Hughes Rose From Humble Log Cabin To Eminence As Fighting Churchman And Patriot In Long, Stormy Career

Tucked away in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains which form the 147 year old campus of Mount St. Mary's College is a weatherbeaten log cabin that on any other campus would be a mecca for pilgrims. But here in the rolling hills of Western Maryland, Mountaineers are so used to aged relics and distinguished remnants that no even the college dwelling of so great a figure as Archbishop John Hughes of New York, one of the really great figures that the American Church has produced, provokes much comment.

No other American prelate has had a more humble beginning than John Hughes. An Irish immigrant, he landed in Baltimore in 1817, aged 20, to help his father lay the groundwork for the eventual arrival of his mother and the rest of the Hughes family, a brother Michael and two sisters, Ellen and Margaret.

Earlier his father, Patrick Hughes, a flax farmer, over whelmed by crop failures and the collapse of the linen trade, had been forced to take his son, who even then had aspirations for the priesthood, out of school. After a stint on the family farm, he went to work as a gardener for some nearby gentry named the Moutrays Tenaciously though he continued his studies at night after completing the day's chores.

Works As Gardener

Following his arrival in America, Hughes spent his first months as a gardener at a nursery on the eastern shore of Maryland. Losing his job with the coming of winter, he went to Chambersburg, Pa., where he labored with his father for more than a year in a stone quarry, mending roads and digging gardens.

In 1918 the rest of the family arrived in America and shortly after they obtained a farm in Youngstown, Pa. About the same time Hughes discovered that at Mount St. Mary's poor students were sometimes admitted without paying, on condition that they teach the lower classes and perform other duties for which they were fit. He promptly made application but was refused because there was no vacancy.

Undiscouraged he began to make regular trips to Emmitsburg on horseback to apply again and again. Finally deciding that he could seize the first opening if he were on the spot, he sought work in Emmitsburg. is first job found him digging a mill-race. That done he worked as a stone mason at a bridge over a little stream on the road to Taneytown, handling pick and shovel, lifting stone, and serving the masons.

Enters Mt. St. Mary's

In November 1919, he again begged the president of Mount St. Mary's Father DuBois, whom he was later to serve as co-adjutor bishop of New York and finally succeed in the metropolitan See, to accept him as a student. DuBois at first refused, noting that there was no place for him except in the garden.

"You have your gardener," replied Hughes, and a regular contract was drawn up by whose terms Hughes would superintend the garden and receive in return board, lodging, and private instruction until he should be qualified to take charge of a class and enter the seminary.

On the 10th of November he began his duties at Mount St. Mary's, the "nursery of the American Church." He spent 9 months in the garden, at the same time studying hard under a private teacher, and frequently hauling his Latin grammar with him as he worked. Meantime he lived in the old log cabin.

Becomes Prelate

One day DuBois saw him in the garden at dinner time pouring over his book and struck by his industry questioned him and admitted him as a regular student in 1820. He was then 23 years old.

Hughes became almost immediately a prefect of the study hall where he was charged with the duty of seeing that the 60 boys in the college course prepared their lessons. It was not always a pleasant task; frequently he found his candle charged with gun powder. On at least one St. Patrick's Day he was startled when a stuffed figure of the conventional "Paddy" suddenly appeared dangling by a rope from the study hall rafters.

Even with his teaching and study hall duties Hughes managed to cram five years work into three. He began also to publish essays in the Franklin Repository at Chambersburg and poetry in the carried his manuscript on foot to Gettysburg, a twelve mile jaunt.

Begins Theology

It was about 1823 that he began his theology course. Among his fellow students were John McCaffrey, one of the most famous of Mount St. Mary's presidents, and John Purcell, later to become archbishop of Cincinnati. In 1824 a new seminary building was ready for occupancy, but on June 6, the night before Hughes and his companions were to move in, it burned to the ground. Hughes spent some weeks visiting the area around Chambersburg and in a month returned with $400 toward a new edifice.

In 1825 Hughes received deaconate and shortly thereafter was invited by Bishop Conwell to accompany him on a visitation of numerous parishes. Bishop, deacon, and episcopal luggage travelled on horseback and at many points Hughes was requested to preach. Taken by surprise, Hughes, still two years from ordination, had but one sermon at his command. After the fifth or sixth time Bishop Conwell, who knew the sermon almost as well as the preacher, titled it the "cuckoo sermon."

On October 15, 1826, Hughes was ordained for the Philadelphia diocese by Bishop Conwell. For a year he labored in the neighborhood of Bedford displaying a marked ability at controversy and a natural aptitude for dialectics. Indeed as a result of his zeal, discretion, and fine memory, fellow clerics began to predict a bright future.

Delights Bishop

In 1827 he was recalled to Philadelphia where his vigor and piety quickly delighted the Bishop. It was a stormy period, with the American hierarchy in bitter conflict with the high handed actions of lay trustees who tried to run the dioceses. Philadelphia was a hotbed of trusteeism, and Hughes won stature by his handling of the problem as an aide to Bishop Conwell. He was becoming, too, a well known orator and the foremost Catholic apologist.

From this point Hughes' rise was quick. Named secretary to Bishop Kenrick, Conwell's successor, he established the Catholic Herald and engaged in a series of debated with famed Protestant leaders, gaining prestige and influence on each appearance. His name had already been placed in nomination for the see of Cincinnati, but the appointment went to his classmate John Purcell through a humorous accident.

The names of both Hughes and Purcell were under consideration for Cincinnati and New York. One of the Cardinals requested a further opinion on the Cincinnati appointment from Bishop England. The prelate suggested that Hughes, self-made and vigorous, was much better suited for the frontier diocese than the courtly Purcell, who as a college president might find difficulty winning the affections of crusty pioneers. Somehow the cadinal confused the names. He later thanked the bishop for his advice and informed him that the self-made Purcell had been appointed as recommended.

Co-adjutor To DuBois

However, in 1837 Hughes received notice that he had been appointed co-adjutor bishop of New York, where he was again united with DuBois, his old college president. Tradition has it that he spent his last night in Philadelphia in the company of a humble laborer whose acquaintance he had made while working at Emmitsburg.

He was consecrated in New York on January 7, 1838, by Bishop DuBois in St. Patrick's Church. Here he helped DuBois battle the trustees so successfully that they ceased to threaten church interests. In August, 1839 he was named administrator of the New York See because of the failing health of DuBois.

Following his appointment he journeyed to Europe to seek financial aid and additional priests for his diocese. Returning he plunged immediately into the public school controversy then raging in New York, defending the institution of parochial schools and seeking public aid from Governor Seward. While he lost the plea for aid, so vigorously and logically did he state the Catholic case that changes were effected in the school system of the city abridging sectarian privileges and resulting in the present public school development.

In 1840 Hughes moved the ecclesiastical seminary from Lafargeville to Fordham, where St. John's College, now Fordham University, was opened in 1841. At this time Hughes faced a debt of $300,000 on his diocese with ten churches and about 70,000 Catholics. By the time of his death in 1864.

In 1844, John McCloskey, another Mount St. Mary's graduate destined to the first American Cardinal, was consecrated co-adjutor to Bishop Hughes. During the year the so-called "Native American" party which had been inciting riots throughout the country singled out Hughes as a target because of his prominence and aggressiveness. With uncharacteristic mildness the Bishop advised his flock to ignore abuse and attack. When the mob threatened to burn his cathedral, however, Hughes armed the Catholics and placed them in the churchyard to defend the building.

Hughes warned his garrison against making or provoking the first attack and advised mayor Morris that if damage was done the brawlers would be promptly and decisively repelled. The bishop's firm action prevented a disturbance and no riot was attempted.

Named Archbishop

During the Mexican War President Polk invited Hughes to Washington to discuss the possibility of employing him as an envoy. Hughe after consulting with his colleagues, decided to refuse the president's offer unless he had full rank and title of an ambassador. Since Polk was unable to give him the rank of envoy because the Mexican government refused to receive a duly accredited American minister, the affair ended there.

Late in 1850 Hughes was named first archbishop of New York and received the pallium from Pope Pius IX in 1851. During the years that followed his labors were incessant. Administering the affairs of his great archdiocese he still found time for controversy although his health had begun to fail and he entertained the thought of resigning.

He directed his energies next to an appeal for support of the new North American College, purchased by the pope for training of American theological students, and was largely responsible for the early financing of it. At the same time he began the construction of his new cathedral, laying the cornerstone for the present St. Patrick's on August 15, 1858. In 1850 he was forced to discontinue work because of lack of funds.

With the outbreak of the Civil War Hughes placed himself staunchly on the side of the Union, giving all the help he could to the government. To counteract confederate sympathy, the government sent Hughes to England and France to build up favorable sentiment for the Union. This mission he accomplished with great success.

On his return from Europe he established St. Joseph's Seminary at Troy. This was his last work, for in a short time his health broke. However, when the great draft riots flared in New York in 1863, Governor Seymour called on the mortally ill archbishop to aid him in putting down the riots.

Hughes faced the draft rioters and speaking in a feeble and broken voice bade them disperse and live in peace. So great was his influence that even his final effort in behalf of his country was crowned with success and the riots ceased.

Shortly afterwards on January 3, 1864, Archbishop Hughes died. He was buried on January 7, the anniversary of his consecration, with Bishop McCloskey preaching the sermon.

Hughes was a self-made man, one of the class for which our country is remarkable. By sheer strength of character he rose from the lowest to the highest rank. Like a giant he dealt death blows to prejudice and bigotry, exposing them to public contempt and ridicule. The free institutions of America were as dear to him as his faith. All in all he was not only one of the greatest prelates the Catholic Church in America has had, but he was as great and as good a citizen as our republic has raised.

New Honors Course Started At Mount

With the current term high-ranking Mount St. Mary's seniors interested in graduate work can elect the newly instituted "honors course." Under the direction of Dr. John L. Morrison, assistant professor of history, and Professors Charles B. Curtin and Richard C. Leonard, of the biology and sociology departments, students will be introduced to research techniques, the use of foreign languages as tools of study, and other requirements for graduate study.

Active guidance will also be furnished honor students in selecting a graduate schoo., and securing fellowships and other financial aid.

SJC Class Of '54 Celebrates Weddings And New Positions

News of the newest of the alumnae always holds a fascination for the undergraduate since in viewing the positions their predecessors hold, they see the possible careers open to them.

Three marriages have taken place over the summer. Marianna Ring was wed just two weeks after graduation to James Gluth, MSM '52. Mary Louise Rippey married another Mountaineer, Edward Egan, the following week. At present, Marianna is in Memphis, Tenn., with Jim whose Navy station is there. She tells us that Miv Johnson, '56, was in for dinner one night and showed them her diamond from Bob Horan, MSM '54. Mary Louise's address is Silver Spring, Md.

Marie Paule Melroy became a bride on August 28. No word has been received in the Valley concerning her wedding. We do know that Pat Brady was to be in the wedding party.

Home Economists

The home economists have obtained a great variety of positions. Class secretary, Patricia Fitzgerald, is an assistant home demonstration agent in Anne Arundel County. Her work is principally supervising 4-H boys' and girls' work. Mary Norton has taken up her studies as a dietetic intern at Western Reserve University.

Eugenia Smith is a home service representative with the Long Island Lighting Company. She says her work is mostly public relations for home economics, which she enjoys. Joanne Tierney has started in the Quaker Maid test kitchens in New York. Her summer travel included a trip to Syracuse for a visit with Mary Lou Williams.

Nancy Black has accepted a position as teacher of home economics, science, and religion at St. Helena's High School in the Bronx. Edna Ruiz, Myrna Sepulveda, and Audrey Yeager all expect to take positions in the home economics field in the fall. Audrey's summer vacationing took her to Brooklyn, Chicago, and Haddonfield, N. J.

Class Scientists

Class scientists, too, have secured positions in their field. Barbara Baird is a hospital technician at Baltimore City Hospital. After hours and on week ends, she is planning her marriage to Richard Kerr, MSM '54. His sister, Joan, '56 and Marian Christe, '54, will be in the wedding, which is to be held on September 25. Helen Coyne started as a research assistant in the Norwich Pharmacal Co., Norwich, N. Y., on August 16; Claire Kirchner is a laboratory chemist at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda. Her wedding plans are pending since Uncle Sam has not yet given his OK.

Of the secretarial majors, Sister Agnes O'Mara, O.S.B., writes us that after summer school at Marywood College, Scranton, Pa., she was assigned to St. Gertrude's High School, Richmond, Va. She will teach shorthand, typing, business arithmetic, and during her free periods will act as school librarian.

Norma Wootton began her work on August 9 as secretary to the deputy chief of the Division of Physical Sciences in the Library of Congress. Joanne Gates is a secretary in the credit department of Forstmann, Inc., New York.

Patricia Brady and Marguerite Bourdeau are the only English majors heard from. Pat, besides planning for her September 11 wedding to William Kerlin Jr., is employed as a calculator at the Government Employees Insurance Co., Washington. Marguerite has been attending summer school at Middlebury, Vt., furthering her studies in French. She is now in the midst of preparations for her year abroad. She sails on the Queen Mary on September 22. In France she will study on a Fulbright grant at the University of Paris with the Middlebury group, working toward her Master's degree in French.

Mount St. Mary's College Campus Shows Devotion Of Students To Blessed Virgin

To the 450 male students of the oldest Catholic College in the United States dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., the declaration of the Marian Year serves to emphasize the numerous Mountaineer traditions that have been for almost 150 years routine marks of honor to the Mother of God.

Devotion to the Blessed Virgin is inescapable on the Mount St. Mary's campus. It has been fostered by the convictions of the founders and administrators of the College both past and present. The very existence of the College is due to the special protection of the Blessed Virgin. Through war and depressions and countless difficulties of all sorts without large endowment or generous benefactions, the College has continued to give a true Christian education under her patronage.

The Grotto of the Blessed Virgin at Mount St. Mary's is the oldest of its kind in the United States.

Wherever the student turns he is confronted with the reality of her presence. The name of the College, Mount St. Mary's, the beautiful chapel of the Immaculate Conception that rises at the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, the numerous statues that dot the most pleasant spots on the campus, the college colors, Blue and White, and the seal of the college, a medallion of the Blessed Mother, under the title Holy Mary of the Mountains, with the motto "Spes Nostra" stress the fact that generations of Mountaineers have been sons of Mary as well as of the Mountain.

Spontaneous Devotion

But it is in the spontaneous activities of the students that their devotion to the Mother of God is best shown—activities which through the years have become strong traditions. During October and May the Chapel of the Immaculate Conception is thronged with students who daily attend the devotion of the rosary. Each Tuesday throughout the year, Mountmen pour from living quarters, athletic fields, study halls to attend novena devotions to Mary.

On the first of May the entire student body make a formal pilgrimage to the grotto of Our Lady on the mountain that tops the college campus, in a renewal of one of the oldest religious traditions in the United States. There, as they have done since the founding of the College in 1808, the student body attends Mass offered by the president of the College to dedicate themselves anew to honorable service to Church and Country.

The Chapel on the mountain and the grotto of Our Lady are rich in Mountaineer tradition, for it was here that Fr. John DuBois first had his vision of founding the College. Wearied after a hard day in dispatch of his parish duties, DuBois was attracted by a light on the Mountainside, and thinking it a settler's residence hoped to find food and rest. Unable to find any building, he stopped on the hillside to rest himself beside a mountain brook. As his thoughts wandered far afield, Fr. DuBois idly shaped a few twigs into a cross. Rising to leave, he first placed the cross in the crotch of the lowest tree. This tree in its decadence was later the original grotto—one of the oldest such in the United States—and the result of DuBois' meditation beneath it Mount St. Mary's College. Here has since been erected the chapel in which the May Mass is now celebrated.

Erect First Grotto

After the first college buildings had been constructed, DuBois busied himself and his charges in beautifying the surrounding areas. One of the first spots that took his eye was the mound on which the present chapel rests, just over the stream from the present grotto. Here he and his early students erected the first grotto on a little pitch of ground which stood among the large and ancient trees in a natural woodland recess.

In the lane which ran through the woods between the parish church and the grotto—a distance of some three hundred yards—Fr. DuBois attached crosses to the trees so that students might make the stations on the beautiful mountain path. Later when the ground became the scene of Corpus Christi processions each spring, the path was called Corpus Christi Avenue.

Year after year the students improved the beauty of the grotto area. They collected soil to make a little garden and built an arbor out of old planks, laths, shingles, as they were able to coax them out of Fr. DuBois.

Corpus Christi Festival

In 1856 the celebration of the Corpus Christi festival began at Mount St. Mary's. After the celebration of Mass—the Mass of St. Thomas Aquinas set to music by Professor Dielman of Mount St. Mary's—the procession moved from the Mountain church to the grotto along the wooded avenue. The line of procession was made up of clergy, seminarians, and college students. Benediction was given at the grotto.

The oldest records of Mount St. Mary's bear witness to the healthy piety of the students, and of the hymns and litanies they offered at the grotto. One is surprised indeed to read of the festivities at the grotto in 1858, the very year in which history records that the Blessed Virgin Mary was appearing to Bernadette Soubirous at Lourdes. Certainly it was Our Lady's apparition at Lourdes which inspired the building of the new grotto, begun in 1875, finished in 1879, the oldest exact replica of the Lourdes grotto in the United States.

After completion of the new grotto the May celebrations were held here. In 1906 a new stone edifice was erected over the old grotto site as a memorial to Bishop McGovern of Harrisburg, once a prefect at Mount St. Mary's. Now each year on May 1 Mass is offered in this tiny chapel and on the last day of May benediction is held.

Other Marks

There are other marks of student reverence on campus also. At the foot of the steps in Brute Hall just outside the college library stands a statue of Mary. The casual observer is struck by the sight of a Mountaineer student taking four steps at a time pausing to press his hand to his lips and then to the hand of the Blessed Virgin just over the handrail. Time and again the hand of the statue has been renewed as the tributes of Mountaineers have worn away the plaster.

The devotion to the Blessed Virgin has been lavishly rewarded. No fewer than 38 sons of Mount St. Mary's have been raised to the episcopacy; seven have become arch-bishops, and one, John McCloskey, was the first American Cardinal. Throughout the country colleges and seminaries, some thirty in number, have been raised by Mountaineers, many of them perpetuating the devotion to Mary, that they learned at their Alma Mater. Laymen, too, have been the recipients of Mary's blessings. They have won renown as statesmen, jurists, poets, and playwrights, as doctors and dentists, in all the businesses and professions.

Monsignor Edward J. Flanagan, founder of Boys Town, was graduated from Mt. St. Mary's in 1906. He was honored for his work with juveniles by his Alma Mater in 1938 with the LL.D.

Historic Old Buildings Date Back To 1809 At St. Joseph's

From Oregon to Florida, from Alaska to Cuba, from Italy, France and Spain pilgrims have flocked to the Old Stone House, the White House, and the Tomb of America's Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, foundress of the Daughters of Charity in the Pnited States and of Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg. During the past year this seat of the first parochial school in the United States has seen from 8,000 to 10,000 visitors who come to pay their respects to the convert-widow-Sister of Charity whose name has become known internationally.

Founded in 1809 by Mother Setan, St. Joseph College, in 1902, by an amendment of the Corporation Act of 1816 was empowered to confer degrees.

Since that date it has continued a four-year college of liberal arts and sciences, offering to Catholic womanhood the opportunity of securing higher education under auspices approved by state boards of education and leading Catholic educational associations.

The college, lying just south of Emmitsburg on the road to Thurmont, Frederick and Washington, faces the Blue Ridge Mountains to the west. It is operated by the Daughters of Charity of Saint Vincent DePaul. It is affiliated with Catholic University of America; recognized by the American Medical Association; is accredited by the State Board of Maryland, Middle States Association of Colleges andSecondary Schools, the University of the State of New York, the University of Puerto Rico, and state boards of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Louisiana, Virginia and New Jersey.

College Buildings

Many picturesque and historical landmarks are scattered among the academic buildings of the college. The Stone House (1809), the original dwelling of Mother Seton, dominates the slight rise of ground overlooking Toms Creek. The White House (1810), Mother Seton's second home in the valley, was destined to serve as America's first parochial school At present it is a favorite haunt for pilgrims, with its quaint schoolroom, small chapel and remembrances of Mother Seton.

The church, Tuscan in style, was erected in 1839. Verdier Hall, completed in 1923, provides space for science laboratories, lecture rooms and gymnasium, and a separate wing has an indoor swimming pool. Marillac (1925) is situated to the east of the administration building. It is the dormitory named for St. Louise de Marillac. Another dormitory, Seton (1926), is located on the west of the administration building. The Home Economics building is located on the southeast of the campus. Here are located the food and design laboratories and classrooms. The second floor, where Home Management students put their theories into practice during a six-week period of residence, is known as the Practice House.

Activity Halls

Brute is frequently referred to as the "square building." On the first floor is the Green Room, center of campus social activity and television. Downstairs is the wood-panelled "Pines", for lounging, listening to the juke-box, smoking or refreshments. On the second floor is the College Infirmary.

The Sister Paula Dunn Memorial Library is located in Burlando building. The Browsing Room is off the west balcony of the library, and Periodicals on the east belcony. The Education Department is found on the second and third floors of the west wing of Burlando.

The College Dining Hall is located in DuBois

The administration offices are on the first floor of Vincent Building. Here are also located lecture rooms for religion, philosophy, languages, mathematics and social studies. The spacious St. Vincent DePaul Auditorium occupies all of the second floor except for the Music Department Suite. On the ground floor are the classrooms of the Secretarial Department, Alumnae-Public Relations, and the Bookstore.

Queen Of Hearts Is Chosen In February

Annual Allegra Ball Aids SJC Yearbook

Another successful Allegra Ball was held last Saturday in New York. The dance, which has become an annual affair for the benefit of the College yearbook, took place in the Skytop Room of the Statler Hotel.

Chaperones for the semi-formal affair were Mr. and Mss. Frederick Stohlman, Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. James Connolly, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Maquire, Mr. and Mrs. Amos D. Ressa, and Mrs. William Warnecke of the New York area.

NEGRO ARTISTS OPEN COLLEGE JOINT PROGRAM

Music ranging from the 16th century to the present will comprise the program to be presented by the Silvertones, musical artists, in De Paul auditorium, on Thursday evening, September 30. Opening the annual joint concert and lecture program of St. Joseph and Mt. St. Mary's Colleges, this group of Negro artists includes in its repertoire classical songs, spirituals, and work songs.

Garfield Henry, who received his musical education at Northwestern University, the American Conservatory, and other institutions of higher learning, organized this group of Negro singers in 1939. Since that time they have toured continuously, with the exception of four years during World War II.

Besides the desire to create a superior musical entertainment group, Henry wishes to prove to the youthful minority groups such as the Negro, that hard work and talent are rewarded.

The Silvertones have been acclaimed throughout the country wherever they have appeared. The Cincinnati Enquirer says of them: "They sound like a great organ, played by an unusually talented virtuoso."

Friends of Mt. St. Mary's and St. Joseph's who reside in the vicinity are welcome to attend the concert-lecture program during the school year.

PHELAN MAKING DEBUT AS MOUNT CAGE HEADMAN

Jim Phelan, former LaSalle College star, has been appointed varsity basketball coach at Mount St. Mary's to succeed Coach Bill Clarke, mentor of this year's tourney champions, who has resigned to take a position at East Meadows High, L. I.

Only 26 years old, Phelan will be the youngest basketball coach in the Mason-Dixon conference. However, since graduating from LaSalle in 1951, Jim has picked up a great deal of coaching experience. While still in college, he worked under the wing of Obie O'Brien at LaSalle High, one of the best respected mentors in Philadelphia. During the past season he served as one of Ken Loeffler's top assistants at LaSalle and the Explorers swept to the NCAA title. Phelan handled Loeffler's scouting assignments, coached the Explorer freshmen, and on several occasions bossed the NCAA champions.

Star Performer

While at LaSalle, Phelan was named to the All City team three years in a row by the Philadelphia Basketball writers association. Following graduation the new Mount cage boss served two years as a Marine officer at Quantico where he starred for the Devildog cagers and led his team to the Marine championship. He also served as assistant coach at Quantico. After his discharge he played briefly with the Philadelphia Warriors in the N. B. A. before taking over as freshman coach at LaSalle.

The new head man had a good look at his material in last year's Mason-Dixon tourney, catching them the night they played Baltimore U. In addition he attended the conference meeting in Richmond and spent several days on the Mount campus last spring going over problems with Coach Clarke and the other athletic officials.

Indications are that the college came up with a top-notch selection since Phelan has been highly praised by Coach Loeffler and Mason-Dixon league officials who watched him both at LaSalle and Quantico.

Phelan will also tutor the Mount baseball team.

In 1861 the professor of writing and keeping accounts was to receive $400 a year and 80 per cent of the amount paid by his students.

FR. KEARNEY IS DEAN AT MOUNT

The Rev. Dr. Francis P. Kearney, J.C.D., assumes his duties as dean of studies at Mount St. Mary's College with the current semester. Fr. Kearney, however, is no stranger to most upperclassmen, having served as professor of philosophy since 1942.

A native of Baltimore, Fr. Kearney was graduated from St. Charles College, Catonsville, in 1931 and from St. Mary's Seminary and University, Baltimore, with the A.B. in 1933. In 1935 he received his Bachelor of Theology degree and in 1937 his Licentiate n Theology from St. Mary's.

After two years at St. Joseph's parish and the Basilica of the Assumption, Baltimore, he entered the graduate school of the Catholic University of America, receiving his Bachelor's degree in Canon Law in 1940, his Licentiate in 1941, and his Doctor's degree in 1942. Since that time he has been a member of the faculties of both the college and the seminary. He was elected dean of the college at the annual meeting of the College Council last June, succeeding the Rev. Carl J. Fives, who is now treasurer of the college.

Civil War Divided Mountain Faculty

The papers of Prof. Ernest Lagarde of Mount St. Mary's attest the prevalence of inflation during Civil War days. In 1864 Lagarde complained that the Richmond restaurant was charging these prices: soup, $1.50; bread and butter, $1.50; roast beef, $3; boiled eggs, $2; ham and eggs, $3.50; rock fish, $5; fried oysters, $4; raw oysters, 3; fresh milk, $2 a glass. Apropos of inflation we have the tale in the Story of the Mountain about the soldier stopped by farmer who admired his horse, offering $30,000 for him. "Sorry," said the soldier, "I just paid "1,500 a foot to have him shod."

MSGR. SHERIDAN SAILS TO EUROPE AS MOUNT OPENS

For the first time in forty-three years as student, teacher, and administrator, the Rt. Reverend Monsignor John L. Sheridan, LL.D., president of Mount St. Mary's, will miss the opening exercises of the school year.

With freshman due back at the college on September 9 to begin orientation, Msgr. Sheridan will embark at New York for a Marian year visit to Rome and other European spots. While in Rome, Msgr. Sheridan will attend the ordination of the Rev. Philip Barrett, now studying at the North American College but destined to return to Mount St. Mary's as a faculty member in the near future.

Born in Troy, N.Y., Msgr. Sheridan came to Mount St. Mary's as a prep student in 1911. After graduation from the Prep he attended the college from which he was graduated in 1913 with his B.A. He entered the seminary after graduation, received his M.A. in 1919, and was ordained in 1921. Following ordination he was invited back to the College as perfect of discipline.

On the death of Msgr. Bernard Bradley in 1936, Msgr. Sheridan was named acting president of the College. In 1937 he was elected president for the first of his many terms.

Most Mounties Live In Pennsylvania

The breakdown of student enrollment during the academic year 1953-54 shows that the largest concentration of students was from Pennsylvania, with New York, New Jersey and Maryland following in that order.

Pennsylvanians made up 32 per cent of the student body with 154 enrolled from the Keystone state. Nineteen per cent or 94 students enrolled from New York; 17 per cent or 84 students, from New Jersey; 16 per cent or 80 students attended from the Free State.

Distribution included 71 per cent from the Northern states as compared with 26 per cent from the South.

GIRLS COMPETE IN PLAY CONTEST

To stimulate interest in dramatic club activities St. Joseph College annually sponsors a one-act play presentation on a class basis. Winners are awarded a trophy for the successful production.

In 1954 the drama contest was held in March and won by the sophomores with the production of Ariada Capa, a harlequinade by Edna St. Vincent Millay. Director of the play was Constance Ehrsam.

The plays are directed, acted and staged by the students of the competing classes and are rated by the judges on projection of the meaning, mood, and story of the play, production and acting.

The 1954 contest was the sixth annual contest.

ALUMNI SURVEY SHOWS TYPICAL MT. GRADUATE

Approximately twenty-nine per cent of those who graduated between 1910 and 1953 reported for the survey including 33 per cent of the clergy and 25 per cent of the laymen from 32 states, 2 foreign countries,and the District of Columbia.

According to the survey findings, the average Mountaineer lay graduate is 38 years old, married, the father of three children, and owns his own home. More than half of those reporting have married college graduates, and the great majority of them have served in the armed forces.

Advanced Degrees

All but eight of the 554 laymen reporting have received a bachelor's degree, and of that number 50 per cent are working for, or have received an advanced degree. Those holding advanced degrees in order of frequency are physicians, lawyers, or dentists. These are followed by those holding M.A.'s in arts, science, education, business administration, and by doctors of philosophy.

Sixty-eight per cent of the alumni are employed full time, with the remainder confined to those still going to school or serving in the armed forces. Only a handful are unemployed.

Mountaineer graduates are employed in thes occupations or professions in order of their frequency: medicine, personnel management, sales personnel, teachers and principals of schools, lawyers, insurance and real estate, accountants, chemists, laboratory technicians and related fields, dentists, federal government workers, and editors, publishers, and related fields. The number of self-employed included 20 per cent owning their own business.

Enjoy Present Work

The vast majority of alumni heartily enjoy their present occupation, with the minority reporting either indifference or dislike. Twenty-seven per cent report that they are holding exactly the kind of job they planned for in college; 29 percent either had no definite design in college or their job has no relationship to their college courses. Fifty percent would repeat their college courses in the same major field, while 30 per cent would definitely select some other field, were they to do their work over again. Eighty-seven per cent reported that college was generally helpful and that the courses in religion and philosophy aid them in meeting the daily problems of adult living.

Measured in terms of financial success a college education has meant salaries over $10,000 for 23 per cent of those returning the data. Those graduated between 1911 and 1925 all make between the $5 to 7 thousand range on the one hand and $10,000 and over on the other, with the majority in this group earning $10,000 and over. The vast majority graduated between 1926 and 1940 earn between $7,000 and an unnamed maximum. Five of those reporting between 1941-45 earn $5,000 or less; 15 earn up to $7,000; 22 from 7 to 9,000, and 15, $10,000 or over. Average salary for all graduates between 1911 and 1945, using $10,000 as a top figure (which is probably too low), is $8,000.

Financial range between 1946-53 is much more scattered since it contains reports of those still in school or serving in the armed forces. The median here, including those in school and soldiers who do not report earnings, is about $5,000. Seventy-one earn up to $4,000; 115, between $5 and 7,000; and 27 between $7,000 and an unnamed maximum over $10,000.

Had To Work

Findings indicate that 60 per cent of Mountaineer graduates had to work hard to complete their college work, while twenty per cent studied hardly at all. About seven-tenths of the alumni took part in extracurricular affairs and the majority of these felt that the program was adequate.

Factors found to be most influential for determining reasons to attend college were to train for a future occupation and to obtain a general education. Less important were the prestige of a college degree, college social life and sports. Least important was the desire to please the family.

The vast majority of graduates report that they would choose Mount St. Mary's again and will send their sons to the Mount because they desire a small college, tuition rates are reasonable, the location and reputation of the college are excellent.

The majority report that they belong to professional, religious, social, civic and veteran organizations.

Returns indicate that Mount St. Mary's is producing men who are not only well qualified for the professions, industry and business, but also men who have a fine spiritual background and have become leaders in a wide variety of occupations.

145 Students From 14 States Enroll At St. Joseph College

When St. Joseph College opens its doors this week to welcome its students 145 new students will enroll. Of this number 16 will be upperclassmen and 129 will enter the freshmen class.

Represented in these numbers are 14 States, Puerto Rico, and Cuba. Maryland sends the largest representation with three dozen students, with New York a runner-up sending 26 young women to the college. Other States found on the roster are New Jersey, Virginia, the District of Columbia, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania Delaware, Connecticut, North Carolina, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Tennessee, and Michigan.

Among the new upperclassmen are two members of religious orders. Sister Mary Ellen Black O. S. B. of St. Benedict's Convent, Bristow, Va., will enter the senior class. Sister Mary Strausbaugh, a member of the Good Shepherd Order, Baltimore, will matriculate as a junior. Her companion, Sister Mary St. Patricia McGouldrick, also of Baltimore, will be a freshman.

Two Graduate Nurses

Two students who will enter the junior class are graduate nurses. Chica Godbee, New Market, Md., completed her training course at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, and received her R. N. this year. Joan Kozak of Bridgeport, Conn., graduated this month from St. Vincent's Hospital in her home city.

Also numbered among the in-coming students are Patricia Devlin, Claudia Schiller, Sandra Schneiders, Margaret Belanger, Therese Charles, Rosemarie Fitz-Gibbons, Anne Marie Graham, Mary Jane Manning, Margaret Meyer, Lillian Nelson, Mary Anne Regan, Mary Jane Shaughnessy, Mary Anne McQuade, Patricia Weber, Catherine Ann Hanlon, Carolyn Beurket, Mary Monica Brogan, Mary Louise Haidle, and Mary Ellen Kavanagh, all from New York State.

From Maryland

Also from Maryland are Barbara Anne Bray, Margaret Smith, Collette Casson, Ann Gott, and Carol Lewis, all from the Bethesda-Silver Spring area.

Virginia's representatives are Mary Candee, Joan Stakem, Helen Ehrsam, Joan Briggs Anne Meyer, Mary Elizabeth Crenshaw, Joyce Bissikumer, Janet Sheehan, Margaret Burijon, Katherine Kofron, Elizabeth Bain, and Therese Klieser.

Ridgewood, N. J., sends three students. They are Helen McHugh, Mary Catherine Sheridan, and Elizabeth Schauble. Other Jerseyites are Theresa Allen, Maureen O'Donnell, Joyce Norton, Tracy Greer, Margaret Ingalls, Angela Maiorino, Dianne Owens, Sara Ann Smith, and Barbara Tranberg.

Adams Countians

Adams Countians on the rolls of SJC will be Carol Holtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Holtz, 17 Fifth St., Gettysburg, and Jillian Hemler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren I. Hemler of McSherrystown. Other Pennsylvanians represented will be Marcia Mehl, June Shillenn, and Barbara Watson of Lancaster, Georgia Brezler, Waynesboro, and Caroline Fannon, Harrisburg. From Philadelphia will come Marciana Calhoun, Arlene Grubb, and Carol Hutchinson. Anne Marie DuVal will come from Jenkintown, and Pilar Chicote, from Manchester.

Representing Massachusetts are Constance Bourdeau, Eleanor MacLachlan, Marie Louise Lynch, Claire Edwards, Elaine Carey, and Patricia Salmon.

Washingtonians will be Margaret Baril, Mary Gee Horvath, Suzanne Callahan, and Patricia Toner, while Wilmington will send Helen Duffy and Marie B. Maucher. Joyce McNamara will be Greensboro, South Carolina's lone representative, with Mary Susan Nardone representing Westerly, R. I., Stephania Pickett, Martinsburg, W. Va., and Eleanor Taylor, Kingsport, Tenn.

Cuba will send Beatriz Garcia and Maria Mercedes Maso, while from Puerto Rico come Vivian Bayouth, Ninfa Inesta, Catalina Marques, and Teresita Grovas.

Louis W. Clark, Ph.D., formerly of Panhandle A. & M. College, Goodwell, Okla., joins the faculty of St. Joseph College as professor of chemistry and physics.

TEACHER LEADS MARIAN GROUP

The group which included St. Joseph collegiennes Nan Stapleton, Roselyn McCarthy, Gloria Ors, and Margaret Mary Toland left New ork on June 25 aboard the Conte Biancamano. While in Rome delegates from the United States presented a petition to the Holy Father for the beatification of Mother Elizabeth Bayley Seton, founder of the Daughters of Charity.

Apart from the English, the American group was the only English speaking group at the four day congress. Besides Rome, delegates also visited Venice, Milan, Loudes, Fatima, Paris and London. Pilgrimages to the European shrines of the Blessed Virgin were climaxed by a visit to the shrine of the Miraculous Medal in Paris.

Mourned Lincoln With Tiny Crepe

After the assassination of President Lincoln, on April 14, 1865 in Ford's Theater, orders were sent out from Wshington for all houses to display some sign of mourning.

A Union officer visiting Mt. St. Mary's saw no sign of any mourning emblem and reprimanded Dr. John McCaffrey, the president and a staunch supporter of the South. Dr. McCaffrey showed the officer a small piece of crepe attached to the main entrance, which the officer had hidden in opening the door.

S.J.C. ALUMNAE DAUGHTERS ARE NEW FRESHMEN

Every year when a new class enrolls at Saint Joseph's, the records show that many new freshmen follow in the footsteps of a relative who was once an SJCienne. This year an even dozen claim this distinction.

Alumnae daughters are always welcome, and this year SJC opens its doors to Anne Marie DuVal, daughter of Helene Cau DuVal, '28, Mary Susan Nardone, daughter of Henrietta Herley, '30, and Patricia Toner, daughter of Catherine Vos Toner, '29.

Sister teams have often been common, and this year is no exception. Seven "little sisters" are numbered on the roster of '58. They are Carolyn Beurket, sister of Mary Jane, '50, and Jeanne, '56; Constance Bourdeau, sister of Marguerite, '54; Helen Ehrsam, sister of Constance, '56; Jillian Hemler, sister of Jacquelyn, '55; Carol Hutchinson sister of Dawn, 54; Anne Gill Meyer, sister of Evelyn, '55, and Mary Anne Regan, sister of Eileen, '57.

Other Relatives

The last two "related frosh" are Mary Elizabeth Crenshaw, whose aunts are Gertrude Miller Smith, '17, Sister Genevieve Miller, '20, and Polly Daffron Miller, '27; and M. Celeste O'Toole, niece of Sister Avita O'Toole, '25 and Catherine O'Toole Burroughs, '26. Celeste is also a cousin of Avita Frick, '51 and Adelaide Burroughs, '57

NEW STUDENTS FACE PROGRAM FOR ONE WEEK

SJCiennes of 1953 are being introduced to college life through a week-long organized orientation program, which began Tuesday evening, September 7, and continues through next Tuesday. A testing program, a study habit workshop, meetings with members of the administration and faculty, and socials filled the first days of the freshmen.

Orientation Week was opened with a welcome by Sister Mary Agnes, president. This welcome preceded an informal social where upperclassmen of the Orientation Committee introduced the freshmen to one another.

Wednesday morning the class met Sister Mary Ellen, dean of students. Following this meeting the Study Habit Workshop was opened. Two sessions each day of the week, with the exception of Saturday and Sunday, were given by Sister Justa, head of the Education Department. The purpose of the program is to improve existing study habits and to help the students make the adjustment from studies on the secondary level to those on the college level.

Testing Program

Sister Rosemary, dean of studies, addressed the freshmen on Wednesday afternoon, at the conclusion of which the testing program for incoming freshmen began. Tests in this series included a psychological examination and tests in religion, reading, natural science, social studies, English, and a language placement test. Spanish-speaking students who are handicapped by the language barrier are given special tests in reading, natural science, and general achievement.

Scheduled for Wednesday evening was the annual faculty dinner followed by a special social in honor of Blessed Mother's birthday. At this time the freshmen were introduced to the faculty.

Today's events include the testing and study habits programs. In the evening there will be a picnic at Tom's Creek.

Friday, the freshmen will meet the Rev. Hugh F. O'Donnell, C.M., college chaplain. There will also be a library orientation program given by Sister Margaret Mary and Mary James, Miss Geraldine A. Mulson, instructor in physical education, will introduce the Class of '58 to her department in the afternoon.

Mount St Mary's freshmen will be entertained on the campus Friday evening, and on the following evening they will reciprocate by having the SJC freshmen as their guests at the Mount. Also planned for Saturday is a tour of the Gettysburg battlefield.

Valley Home Weekend Scheduled Oct. 8 - 10

All SJC parents are cordially invited to spend the week end of October 8 to 10 in the Valley with their daughters. The traditional Valley Home Week end, inaugurated in 1947, will again feature the Rev. Philip E. Dion, C. M., as speaker of the day at the Sunday morning brunch. Father Dion is the newly appointed assistant director of the Daughters of Charity.

Academic Investiture of the Class of 1958 will open the week end on the evening of October 8. The Valley Home Tea from 2 until 4 on Saturday afternoon at the Log Cabin will be another highlight. The evening performance of Maria Spes Nostra, a pageant presented by the Dramatic Club, will be followed by the favorite Father-Daughter Dance. Maria Spes Nostra is a re-presentation of the Marian drama given during the Graduation Week ceremonies last June. It was composed by Jeanne-Preston Smith Ellis, a 1948 graduate of SJC.

Among the outstanding relics owned by Mt. St. Mary's College is an original manuscript entitled, "Accounts of George Washington with the United States, 1775-1783.

GLORIA ORS HAS TOP CAMPUS JOB

Top officer on the St. Joseph College campus is Gloria Ors, secretarial science major from Wildwood, N. J., who as president of the Children of Mary holds the most coveted office at the college. As C of M president, she is ex officio a member of every other campus organization.

Miss Ors has been extremely active at St. Joseph's having served as class secretary during her sophomore and junior years and as vice-president of the Glee Club and Blessed Clet Mission Unit. In addition she was treasurer of Pi Delta Phi and participated in the Marillac Association of Catholic Action.

SAYS AID FOR CHILDREN IS RATHER SPOTTY

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A panel discussion on the support of dependent and neglected children turned into a spirited argument over the state Welfare Department yesterday at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Assn. of County Commissioners.

The six-member panel, presided over by John H. Doherty, association president and chairman of Delaware County Commissioners, included Mrs. Isabelle J. Jones, deputy state secretary of welfare; John U. Shroyer, Shamokin, former state highways secretary and now a Northumberland County commissioner; State Sen. William J. Lane (D-Wash.), a county commissioner; Lebanon County Commissioner Paul E. Sanger of Myerstown; Beaver County Commissioner Samuel M. McClune and Tioga County Commissioner Leon Smith.

Mrs. Jones triggered the discussion when she said that, despite federal aid covering services for approximately 20,000 of the 60,000 children in the state receiving some form of assistance, "the overall results in the counties is rather spotty."

Have 67 Varieties

"In the 67 counties we have 67 varieties of assistance and not all of the programs are particularly good," she said.

She added that counties are not totally to blame for this situation, because the legislature has failed to provide adequate funds.

Shroyer, defending his county's program, charged the Welfare Department with holding up the county's plans for building a $100,000 home for dependent children and mentally deficient.

Lane said the state was impeding progress in finding foster homes for children.

Sanger said his county could get along without state aid.

Mrs. Jones denied that the program is run from Harrisburg. In her opinion, she said, the state merely supervises and "the final authority rests with the county commissioners."

Shroyer replied:

"All these platitudes you were telling us about the state being 42nd (among states with child welfare programs) don't mean a thing. We want none of your money and none of your help."

3 Car Crash Kills Two On Turnpike

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two persons were killed and several others injured today in a three-car collision on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near the Gettysburg Interchange about seven miles from Harrisburg.

The crash occurred when an eastbound automobile skidded on the slippery pavement, crossed the medial strip and struck two westbound cars.

The injured were taken to Harrisburg Hospital.

The names of the dead and injured were not immediately available.

GEN. K. LAWTON WON'T TESTIFY FOR M'CARTHY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton has refused to testify at the McCarthy censure hearings concerning a conversation with Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. Sen. McCarthy's counsel accused the Army of "definitely gagging" the witness.

Lawton, in refusing to testify about the conversation, cited a presidential directive against disclosure of private conversations within the executive department of the government.

The retired general, a friend of McCarthy, said he was acting on advice he had obtained from "various counsel" at the Pentagon.

Lawton said "I respectfully must refuse" to give testimony concerning any official conversations with Zwicker because of advice he said he had received Tuesday that to do so would violate the controversial directive President Eisenhower issued last May 17 forbidding witnesses at the McCarthy-Army hearings to testify what was said or done at a high level conference in the office of Atty. Gen. Brownell and attended by White House aides and others.

Eisenhower's order was not limited to that one conference, but covered all private consultations within the executive department.

Williams said to Lawton: "You did tell me the substance of your conversation with Gen. Zwicker on Monday night?"

Lawton: "I did discuss the substance with you."

Williams appealed then to Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) of the special committee conducting public hearings on 46 censure charges preferred against McCarthy by three fellow senators.

"Mr. Chairman," Williams said, "here we have a very cogent illustration of what this case is all about.

Lawton was accompanied by John E. Pernice, chief of the legal division of the Army Signal Corps. Lawton said Pernice was appearing with him "at my request."

POLIO EXPERT IS OPTIMISTIC ABOUT VACCINE

ROME (AP) — Dr. Jonas E. Salk, whose polio vaccine is undergoing one of medical history's most-closely watched tests, reported today that man eventually may gain long-term immunity against polio from as little as two injections.

The young bacteriologist from the University of Pittsburgh submitted his eagerly awaited report to physicians and scientists of 49 nations, gathered in Rome for the International Poliomyelitis Congress.

Salk developed the vaccine which has been given to 425,000 children in the United States in a massive trial supported by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Its effectiveness will not be known definitely until next March evaluated and announced by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. of the University of Michigan, Salk's former mentor and also a delegate at the congress.

But Salk reported there already is evidence that the vaccine generates antibodies — virus-fighting particles — in the blood streams of vaccinated persons. He said they are equal to antibodies found in the blood of persons who have recovered from the disease.

"The indications are that such can be accomplished with as few as two injections," he reported, "provided the potency of the vaccine and the interval (between shots are both adequate."

Length of Effect

It is still not certain how long the effect of the vaccine will last, Salk said, adding:

"That there is still much to be learned is clear indeed. Nevertheless, it does appear . . . that by suitable manipulation of the dose of vaccine and of the intervals between inoculations, it should be possible with relatively few injections properly spaced to provide long-term immunity."

Salk said he and his associates now are trying to find out what is the shortest effective time between inoculations.

"In man," he said, "it is clear that the interval is longer than five weeks."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department called yesterday for 23,000 Army draftees in November. This quota has been renewed each month since July.

ROCKET WAR BEGUN 10 YEARS AGO BY NAZIS

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP)—You could learn to live with the V1 buzz-bombs. Like rattlesnakes, they at least gave warning before they struck.

But when the German V2 rockets began to rain death on London—silent and invisible until the explosion—even stouthearted Britons who had weathered five years of terror from the skies felt the raw lash of fear.

There was no defense against the V2. No sirens wailed a warning to take cover.

It was 10 years ago Wednesday in the gathering dusk on the outskirts of The Hague, Holland, that German troops unleashed Hitler's "Vergeltungswaffe Zwei," or "Vengeance Weapon No. 2," and sent it streaking toward England. The rocket's white vapor trail, reaching to a height of 60 miles, marked the beginning of modern rocket warfare.

Less than six minutes later, at 6:43 p.m., Sept. 8, 1944, a shark-nosed 46-foot rocket carrying a ton of high explosives dropped without warning in the village of Chiswick-on-Thames. It exploded with a roar heard across London.

Thus began a 201-day ordeal that killed 2,754 civilians, injured 6,523 and turned tens of thousands of homes into rubble. The Germans launched about 1,500 rockets, 1,115 reaching England.

Named To $13,000 Revenue Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service on Tuesday announced appointment of Norman Eshelman as regional commissioner of internal revenue at Cincinnati. The post pays $13,000 a year.

Eshelman, who will be 54 on Thursday, has been acting regional commissioner following the retirement of George F. Neal.

Eshelman, a native of Greencastle, Pa., has been with the service since 1922. He has served in Washington and Cleveland, where he was appointed internal revenue review agent in 1925.

In 1939 he went to London as internal revenue agent and treasury representative. In 1940 he was assigned to St. Louis as assistant revenue agent in charge and became district commissioner there in 1952. He was appointed assistant regional commissioner at Cincinnati July 1, 1953.

DEWEY WILL LEAVE ALBANY AFTER 12 YEARS AS GOVERNOR

By WATSON SIMS

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, one of the most powerful figures in national Republican politics since 1940, is returning to private life after 12 years as governor of New York.

Dewey, twice a nominee for President, said in a statewide telecast Tuesday night that he would not under any circumstances be a candidate for public office this fall. He gave no reason other than a desire to return to private life.

The withdrawal of Dewey from the New York governorship picture was regarded by most Washington politicians as intended to be only a temporary retirement from active politics.

Ives May Run

These politicians inclined to the view that Dewey has convinced himself that he has one more run in his system.

Perhaps significantly, he said in his announcement that in private life he would "continue to take an active interest in the cause of good government and enlightened public policies." He said he would be "actively in the campaign to elect my successor."

In Washington GOP circles, including those close to President Eisenhower, the general expectation was that U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives will become his party's candidate — however reluctantly — for governor of New York. Ives need not resign his Senate seat to make the race, and if nominated and elected, he could name a Senate successor to serve until the next election.

White House Adviser

Ives has said repeatedly, reiterating it shortly before Dewey's broadcast, that "I am not a candidate."

There seemed little doubt that Dewey, retiring after 12 years in the gloomy mansion at Albany, would remain a close adviser to Eisenhower and the national administration.

As one who helped get Eisenhower in the race for the GOP nomination in 1952 and who has had the White House ear since, he remains one of the relatively small group to whom Eisenhower might turn for a recommended successor if the President decides not to run again in 1956.

If Eisenhower does try again, some thought Dewey might run in 1956 for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Herbert Lehman (D-Lib-NY).

InDenver, where he is summering, Eisenhower expressed regret over Dewey's decision—a regret obviously shared by many Republicans who felt that the New York prizes in this year's battle for control of Congress may have receded somewhat with Dewey's name off the ballot.

The decision, which Dewey has closely guarded as a secret, came despite repeated urging by many Republican leaders that the 52-year old governor seek a fourth term.

Some Surprised

President Eisenhower, who "had hoped" Dewey would run again, was told in advance that he would not. But the announcement caught many state Republican leaders by surprise.

It came only one day before a scheduled meeting of the State Republican Executive Committee. Formation of a "draft Dewey" move reportedly was to have been the meeting's main order of business.

In 1940, he staged the first of three climactic convention battles with the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who spoke for the more conservative Republican elements. A Dewey-Taft stalemate that year resulted in the presidential nomination going to the late Wendell Willkie.

In 1944 and 1948, however, Dewey won the nominations for himself. But he lost the elections, first to Franklin D. Roosevelt and then to Harry S. Truman.

Cabinet Post Maybe

In 1952, Dewey was one of the first to support Gen. Eisenhower, and at the convention he delivered his delegation virtually intact to the successful candidate.

Whether, and to what extent, he might continue his national influence without the governor's chair as a forum was problematical.

At the state level, Dewey's withdrawal may have thrown the gubernatorial campaign into a dogfight.

Dewey made no announcement of specific plans. There have been reports of offers in top law firms of New York City, where he obtained his political start as a crimebuster.

There have also been many rumors in the past that he might become a member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet.

Actor's Son Faces Trial For Robbery

SANTA MONICA, Calif (AP)—Trial of Edward G. Robinson Jr., 21, son of the actor, on two charges of armed robbery is scheduled for Nov. 16.

During Robinson's preliminary hearing Aug. 12 two taxicab drivers, Michael Piascik and Henry Chernack, identified Robinson as the man who robbed them of a total of $42 in separate holdups during July.

Donkey milk has been used for human consumption for countless centuries.

ROBERT YOUNG PLANS TO RAZE RAIL TERMINAL

The proposed building would cost about 100 million dollars. It would be 1,600 feet high, 128 feet taller than the Empire State Building, and contain upward of five million square feet of floor space.

Young, in his first statement since taking over the railroad last June, said Tuesday that this plan and others are being considered in seeking to reduce huge annual deficits in operating the present terminal.

Young said he had asked architects and developers to submit their suggestions for using the "air rights" above the present eight-story terminal building — that is, the space above the building.

The present eight-stcry structure was built in 1913. It was then intended to add another 14 stories to it, but no additions ever were made.

Wants Paying Venture

Young said taxes are being paid now at rates that indicate these air rights "are the most valuable in the world."

Among the suggestions offered, Young said, was one from the New York building firm of Webb & Knapp.

"It is their estimate," said Young, "that a new building which would be the largest structure in the world . . . could produce a return consistent with its cost and the value of the air rights."

Webb & Knapp said its present plan is for a single tower 80-story office building with an elevated plaza and "an observation tower, the most unusual of its kind ever contemplated."

From building industry sources it was learned that such a structure, using 25 per cent of the terminal's 48-acre site, to comply with zoning, would cost around 100 million dollars.

The 102-story Empire State Building, the world's tallest, has only two million square feet of rentable floor space. The world's largest commercial building is Chicago's Merchandise Mart, with 4,023,400 square feet, or 93 acres, but the Pentagon is larger.

SLAYER LEAVES HOSPITAL

Three psychiatrists including Dr. Perry Robertson, medical superintendent of the state hospital, testified Dr. Small was sane and his release would menace neither persons or property.

Sell Interest In Empire State Bldg.

DETROIT (AP)—Two Michigan men have sold their controlling interest in New York's Empire State Building to Col. Henry Crown, Chicago and New York real estate broker.

Roger L. Stevens of Ann Arbor and Alfred Glancy Jr. of Detroit said papers were signed in the office of a New York attorney. They said the formal closing will be made later.

Stevens and Glancy, along with Ben Tobin of Hollywood Beach, Fla., headed a syndicate that purchased the world's tallest office building from the estate of the late John J. Raskob in 1951 for 51½ million dollars.

"I traded my large 8-cylinder 4-door automobile for the Metropolitan"

"Since then I have enjoyed all sorts of fine, economical performance. Good riding—good steering—terrific mileage, both on a trip and around town. As for riding on a trip, I don't get nearly as tired as I did in my other car, and I would venture to say that my 'Met' will ride as well anywhere (rough roads included) as any of the medium-priced cars on the road today. I recommend this car to anyone who drives a lot and for long distances."

SAYSCOCKTAILS, CIGARETTES AND COFFEE CAUSE ULCER INCREASE

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A surgeon blamed cigarettes, cocktails and the "coffee break" today for an increase in the ulcer rate among women.

Dr. Leo J. Starry, professor of surgery at the University of Oklahoma Medical School, said the incidence of the serious, bleeding-type ulcer has increased among both men and women in the last 10 years, but at a faster clip for women.

Coffee And Cocktails

Dr. Starry said the coffee break now is standard practice in many offices and industrial establishments.

He believes this has resulted in a higher rate of coffee and cigarette consumption among women workers.

Cocktail parties, he said, could help account for an increase in the ulcer rate of both sexes.

Checked 437 Cases

In a speech and interview at the annual congress of the United States and Canadian sections of the International College of Surgeons, he said cigarettes, coffee and alcohol stimulate the secretion of ulcer-producing acids.

The cigarette and coffee taken together during a short coffee break is especially hazardous for some people, he added, because no food is taken to act as a buffer for the acids.

His study was based on 437 cases of bleeding ulcers, 27 per cent of whom were women.

East Berlin

EAST BERLIN—Nancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gruver, near Holtzschwamm, has been discharged from a hospital after several months following severe injuries in an auto crash during May which hospitalized her mother until about two weeks ago. Both mother and daughter are now completing their recuperation at home, each having suffered a leg fracture.

Two former East Berlin High School students were prominently noted as vocalists during late summer activities. Wayne Rodgers, Abbottstown R. 1, tied with a Mt. Wolf young man for first place at an amateur contest at Dallastown Fair, and will have an audition with his competitor over a well known TV show in late September. Miss Margaret Ann Moul, who has satisfactorily completed work for necessary academic requirements through the summer course at Gettysburg College and who is preparing to resume voice study at Juilliard School of Music, has been appearing as special vocalist at several churches during the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Musselman, Stillman Valley, Ill., formerly of near Two Churches, visited at the homes of East Berlin friends during their recent motor trip East.

Paradise Parochial school resumed classes Tuesday morning with regular school bus service for the large number of children attending from East Berlin and vicinity.

A reunion of the family of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Frey, near Adams County Fairgrounds, who have seven sons and three daughters, was conducted recently at the Hamilton Twp. farm operated nearby by two of the sons, Lee H. and Horace B. Frey.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Myers, west of town, marked their 40th wedding anniversary recently. Mr. Myers, a son of Mrs. Ida (Myers) Myers, East Berlin, and the late Charles Myers, who died August 11, is a farmer. His wife at the time of their marriage was Miss Margaret Sunday, a rural school teacher in this area. The couple had three daughters and a son. The eldest daughter, Elverna Myers Roland, died six years ago. The next, Dorothy, is the wife of Dr. Willis T. O'Brien, Paramount, Calif., and the youngest, Phyllis, is now Mrs. Carl V. Snyder, near East Berlin. A son, Lester Myers, husband of the former Fairy Hamme, resides with his four children on a farm near the parents' home. The elder Myerses have eight grandchildren.

The Rev. Lester J. Karschner, pastor of the local Lutheran charge, has resumed regular pastoral duties after his annual vacation and his absence while serving as a counsellor at the closing activities of Camp Cann-Edi-On, near York.

The presentation of a hand-painted tray to Supervising Principal Elmer M. Gruver of the local high school, and his wife, was a part of the recent reunion of the class of 1939 at Elicker's Grove, near Thomasville.

The class is now preparing to conduct a celebration during the summer of 1959 when the 20th anniversary will be marked. Members have already been appointed to begin plans. David S. Meckley is chairman with Dorothy Kunkel Stumpf, Helen Volland Sealover and T. Bartlett Zeigler assisting.

At the recent reunion, Phyllis Witter Long, now of Hagerstown, was awarded a prize both for traveling the longest distance and for bringing with her the largest number of children. Hylene Bubb Lillich was noted as the "longest married," with 14 years of marriage to Raymond M. Lillich, class of '36, and their son, Jerry, 13, received a prize as the "oldest child" present. Little Julie Zeigler, daughter of Bartlett Zeigler, was given an award as the "youngest child."

Games for the gathering were directed by Miss Mildred Altland. Clair E. Wehler, "the most recently married alumnus present," was also chairman of the activities, assisted by Miriam Hamme Hauser, Irene Jacobs Lemmon and John E. Gentzler, Jr.

Other class members present were: Maxine Hamme Meckley, Mrs. Ralph Miller, Misses Rosalie M. Berkheimer and Helen G. Weaver, and Dorothy Zeigler Roomsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman G. Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Myers have been spending two weeks on a motor trip to Albuquerque, N. M., to visit the Herman Myers' son, John, and his wife, formerly Miss Yvonne Reeser, residing there during his army duty at Los Alamos.

Abbottstown

ABBOTTSTOWN—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chubb and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Becker left recently for a week's vacation in Canada.

Wayne Stambaugh, who is a student at De Pry Television School, Chicago, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Stambaugh, over the weekend.

The Ever Ready Class of the Reformed Sunday School will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Elmer Markle.

The digging for the basement of the new addition for the Reformed Church is just about completed. The new addition is to cost approximately $32,834. Gerald Myers has been elected treasurer for the building fund and all checks or donations are to be made payable to the Emmanuel Repair Fund, Gerald Myers, treasurer.

At a recent meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Reformed Church it was decided to hold a soup and bake sale on Saturday, September 25, at the home of Mrs. Cletus Altland, Lincolnway West.

Mrs. Mabel Moul, Mrs. Mary Rudisill and daughter, Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Moul have returned from a vacation at Ocean City, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Alwine and daughter, Gladys, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Heimer Wolf are on a week's trip through the New England states.

COMMITTEE HAS NEW EVIDENCE AGAINST SOLON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators weighing censure charges against Sen. McCarthy resumed public hearings Tuesday, and passed word their staff has additional evidence to present against the Wisconsin senator.

The group last week tentatively covered the five classes of charges singled out for study, but left the way open for additional evidence.

McCarthy told reporters the committee had informed him "they may take all day" to complete the presentation of evidence.

He said he was ready to begin his defense as soon as he had opportunity.

"We're ready to go," McCarthy said, but declined to give any hints of defense strategy or to name any of the witnesses in advance, except to confirm what his counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, had announced before: "I will be a witness."

Ervin For McCarthy

There were reports from sources close to McCarthy that he may question whether Sen. Ervin (D-NC) is unprejudiced.

McCarthy himself declined to discuss the reports except to declare he has been told that commentator Walter Winchel mentioned Ervin in a broadcast Sunday night.

"I know nothing beyond what Winchell broadcast," he said.

McCarthy said Winchell read "something" from an article published Aug. 1 by the Winston Salem (N.C.) Sentinel and Journal, quoting remarks attributed to Ervin.

Reporters asked Ervin about it. He said he knows of no basis for a challenge of his impartiality.

He said he did write to the Sentinel and Journal but that he can think of nothing in the letter which would indicate bias.

Opposed Expelling Joe

"I wrote them that I did not favor removing him (McCarthy) from his committee chairmanships or expelling him from the Senate," Ervin said.

He said he had been quoted as making such a statement and the newspaper asked him about it.

"They asked why I took that position, and I wrote them and told them why."

Ervin said he is on record as declaring that "I would not vote to censure anyone except after hearings and due process of law. . . I wouldn't vote to censure except on proof."

"I also have said I would not have voted for the Flanders resolution in its original form because in my opinion it did violence to the law of the land" by proposing censure without specific charges.

Three File Charges

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) introduced the censure resolution against McCarthy. Later, Flanders and Senators Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind-Ore) filed specific charges which form the basis for the present hearings by the special six-member committee.

From the outset of the hearings, McCarthy has several times raised informally a question of the impartiality of Sen. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, senior Democrat on the committee.

He has pointed to a Denver Post story of last March quoting Johnson as saying all Democratic Senate leaders "loathe" McCarthy.

Johnson has said he never said he personally loathed McCarthy, and chairman Watkins (R-Utah) has ruled that in any case the committee has no power to disqualify a member.

Attorney Williams said the defense would have other witnesses than McCarthy, and that the senator would not be the first one.

Adm. Stump And 7th Fleet Between Reds And Formosa

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—President Eisenhower recently said that if the Chinese Reds try to invade Formosa they will have to run over the United States 7th Fleet.

He might have added, "And a fellow named Stump."

Adm. Felix B. Stump is a brusque, plain-spoken West Virginian, nearing 60, with 37 years experience on virtually every type of Navy craft. He has been bombed, shot at and torpedoed. He started flying in 1919 and is a graduate of that hard World War II school of naval warfare which taught the tremendous importance of air power.

He Hates Commies

And he hates Communists.

For some five years, it has been patrolling the 100-mile-wide Straits of Formosa, separating that strategic Nationalist-held island from the Chinese mainland.

Stump is no sword rattler. He said in an interview that he does not believe another war is imminent. "We won't start a war and we won't start a preventive war," he said.

Believes In Action

At the same time, he believes in acting fast when circumstances demand. Two months ago, Chinese Red planes shot down a British transport off Hainan Island, and U.S. Navy fighters were detailed to the scene to search for survivors. Red fighters jumped them, and the American pilots shot down two Communist planes.

Stump said the pilots had been instructed to be "alert and restrained," and if necessary, "quick on the trigger." He outlined this procedure:

"If any U.S. plane is attacked or approached with obvious hostile intent, it will fire back. In other words, you don't have to wait to get your head blown off to shoot back."

On the whole, however, he shies away from public expressions on international problems. "I get my thinking from Washington," he says. "I carry out orders."

In his working day—which is seven days a week and sometimes at night—he is "rough and brusque as hell, but always considerate," as a member of his staff put it.

Outside the office, he likes to putter in his garden, hunt and fish, play tennis, and romp with his children, Frances, 12, and Felix Jr., 9.

He was born in Parkersburg, W. Va., Dec. 15, 1894. He was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in March 1917 and he was promoted to admiral June 27, 1953.

He entered flight training in 1919 and became a naval aviator the next year.

Segregation Issue Rises In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Superior Court Judge John T. Tucker has given the Board of School Commissioners 15 days to show why they should not be required to put Baltimore schools back on a segregated basis.

Schools opened Tuesday with Negroes and whites in the same classes for the first time in history.

Judge Tucker's order was signed on a suit filed yesterday in which seven parents of six schoolchildren and two organizations seek to force the city to maintain separate schools.

Nudist Camp For Sale Near Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Want a nudist camp?

They make it clear, however, that prospective buyers will have to strip if they want to look over the place, which consists of 110 acres, a 2½-story house, swimming pool and five grassy acres for sunning. They're determined that the camp is not going to degenerate into a rendezvous for people who wear clothes.
